THE UNIVERSITY ADMINISTRATION

PRESIDENT OAKS

The president of Brigham Young University is 41-year-old Dallin Oaks, who assumed the responsibilities of the nation's largest church-related institution of higher learning Aug. 1, 1971. President Oaks, a former professor of law at University of Chicago, replaced Dr. Ernest L. Wilkinson who served as president of BYU for a period of 20 years (1951-1971).

President Oaks was born in Provo, Utah, on Aug. 12, 1932, a son of the late Dr. Lloyd E. Oaks and Stella H. Oaks. He graduated from BYU in 1954 with high honors, receiving the B.A. degree in accounting and economics. At University of Chicago Law School he received the Doctor of Jurisprudence degree in 1957, graduating cum laude, second in a class of 86, and was named to the Order of the Coif. He was also editor-in-chief of the university's Law Review in 1956-57.

He began his legal career as a law clerk to Chief Justice of the United States Supreme Court, Earl Warren. A year later he entered private law practice in Chicago (Kirtland, Ellis, Hodson, Chaffetz and Masters). In 1961 he became associate professor of law at University of Chicago, and was associate dean from May 1962 to Jan. 1963, serving as dean during the last three months of this period. He was also Assistant States Attorney of Cook County (1964) and visiting professor of law at University of Michigan Law School (1968).

From January through June 1970 he was on leave of absence to serve as legal and research adviser to the Bill of Rights Committee of the Illinois Constitutional Convention. He became executive director of the American Bar Foundation (1970).

Pres. Oaks has been co-editor, co-author, or author of four books dealing with subjects of church and state, trust law, operation of criminal courts in Chicago. He has also authored about thirty articles in leading periodicals and other magazines.

An active member of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, he served as first counselor in the presidency of the Chicago Stake (district) and was formerly mission president in Chicago Stake.

He married June Dixon of Spanish Fork, Utah, and they have five children: Sharmon, Cheri, Lloyd, Dallin and TruAnn.

THE UNIVERSITY

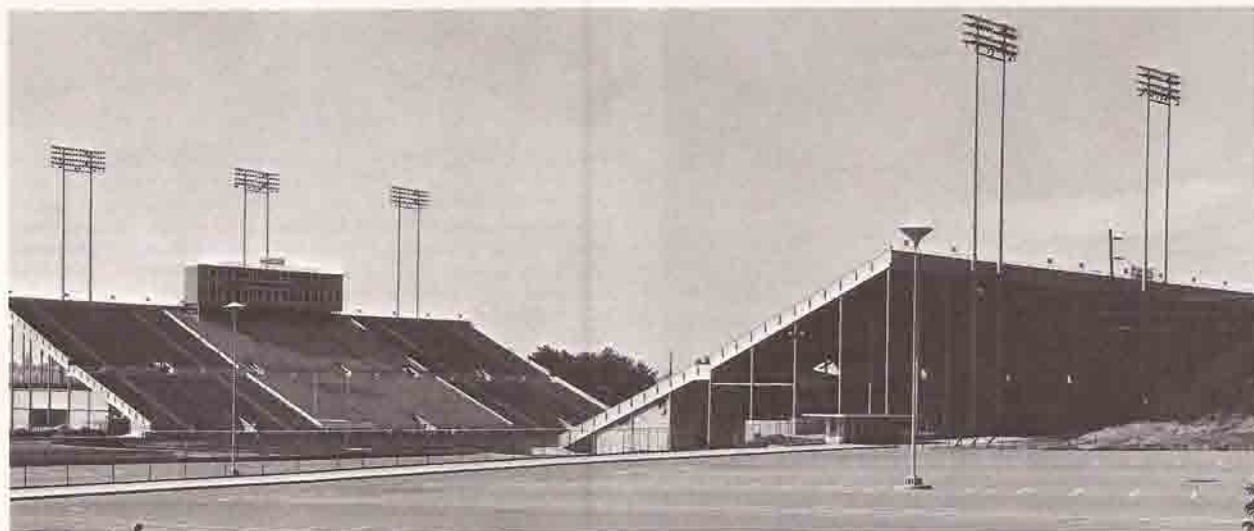

Brigham Young University, the fountainhead of learning for The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints is among the largest church-related institutions of higher learning in the world. Within the University there are 13 colleges, and the graduate school offers masters degrees in 85 fields and doctoral degrees in 40 fields.

The school is located in beautiful Utah Valley on a bench overlooking Provo, Utah, a community of almost 55,000 people. Rugged mountains in the Wasatch range border the valley on three sides, the Utah Lake forms a border on the west.

Forty-five miles to the north is Salt Lake City, capital of Utah and historic center of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, (commonly called the Mormon Church).

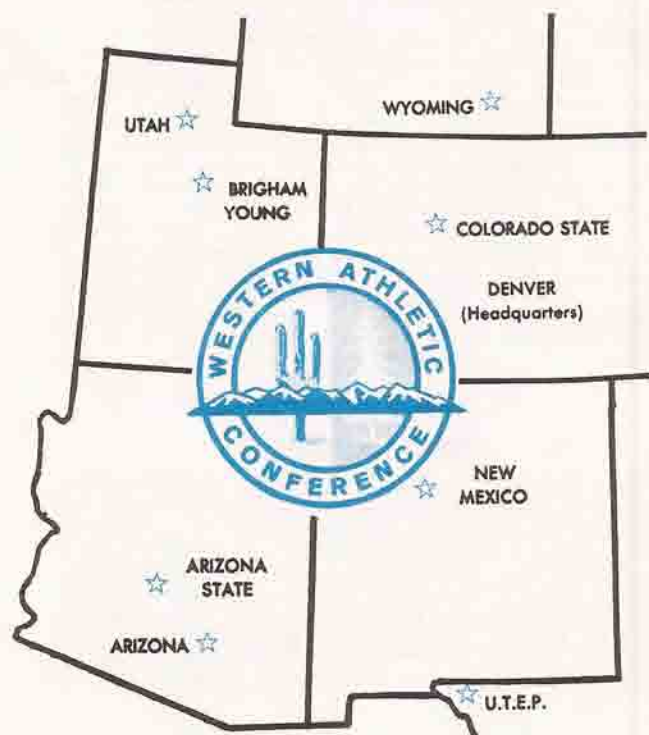

This is the setting. But the school is more than this. It is a center of higher learning which places special emphasis on spiritual values, on friendly association, and on knowledge. But in any setting, the school would be unique because of its atmosphere.

BYU is a member of the Western Athletic Conference and is consistently a powerful contender in both conference and national intercollegiate sports.

Brigham Young University's 30,000-seat stadium was built in 1964.

WESTERN ATHLETIC CONFERENCE

The Western Athletic Conference will enter its eleventh year this fall, having established itself as one of the finest leagues in the nation. The eight member institutions extend over a broad region of the Rocky Mountain-Southwest (six states in all), and the league has its headquarters in Denver, Colorado.

Commissioner for the WAC is Stan Bates, former director of athletics at Washington State, who became the league's third commissioner on July 1, 1971. He replaced Wiles Hallock, who left to become executive director of the Pacific Eight Conference.

The Western Athletic Conference came into being on July 1, 1962. There were six charter members; Arizona, Arizona State, Brigham Young, New Mexico, Utah and Wyoming. Two members, Colorado State University and Texas-El Paso, were added to the group on July 1, 1968.

Conference headquarters are located in Denver, Colo., with offices at 1515 Cleveland Place (the Denver-Hilton). Director of information for the WAC is Nurdy Jensen, who took over the assignment in July of this year. John Adams is supervisor of officials.

COACHING STAFF

LaVell Edwards' first year as head coach at BYU produced all kinds of rewards.

Taking a team that wasn't given much of a chance to place among the front runners, Coach Edwards guided the Cougars to a 7-4 season record and a second-place tie in the WAC. And to cap it off, he was named the WAC Coach of the Year for 1972.

Not bad for a 42-year old local (born in Provo and raised in Orem) whose boyhood dream was to coach at BYU.

LaVell became the Cougars' 11th head coach a year ago last January, when he was selected as replacement for the departing Tommy Hudspeth. Prior to his appointment as head coach he had served ten years on BYU's football staff, the last few years as chief assistant and defensive coordinator.

Coach Edwards got his start within the shadows of BYU. He was an all-state player at Lincoln High School (now Orem High) where he was all-state two years. At Utah State in Logan he won all-conference honors as center and linebacker.

Called into the armed service after graduation, he added to his playing and coaching experience with two years of service ball. On his return to Utah, he began his coaching career at Granite High in Salt Lake City.

In 1962 he joined the Cougar staff as an assistant, and his specialty has been defense. His defensive units have had notable success.

Among many of his strong points is his gift for working with other people. He has excellent rapport with the players and coaches, including opposing coaches. In fact, LaVell seems to get along well with everyone.

IT WON'T BE THE SAME CLUB, BUT. . . .

Coaches Quotes: "There are two things that can be regarded as critical in this year's program. First, if quarterback Dave Terry can come off his wrist operation in good condition—a slow process, at best—and if Gary Sheide and Randy Litchfield continue to develop, the potential at quarterback will be as good as any we have had in a long time.

"A second question mark will be our defensive secondary. But I personally feel we have some good young players who will eventually take over there.

"Also, we will move away from the one-man attack we had with Pete VanValkenburg to a more balanced offense."

Returning Lettermen: A total of 32 returning (12 of them two-year lettermen), and who could ask for more? Listed among them are 11 of 22 starters from last fall. Even so, the Cougars will definitely miss the all-conference personnel who sparked the '72 club. Numerically, the outlook is very encouraging.

Major Losses: It just won't be the same club without Fleet Pete VanValkenburg (the nation's leading rusher), defensive standout Dan Hansen (an extremely tough man to replace), and offensive lineman Paul Howard. All three made the official all-WAC team, and all three made significant contributions to last year's success. The area likely to suffer most will be the defensive secondary where Hansen and two other defensive backs—Craig Crompton and George Gourley—have departed, leaving Dave Atkinson as the only returning starter. Otherwise, the losses, overall, haven't been great.

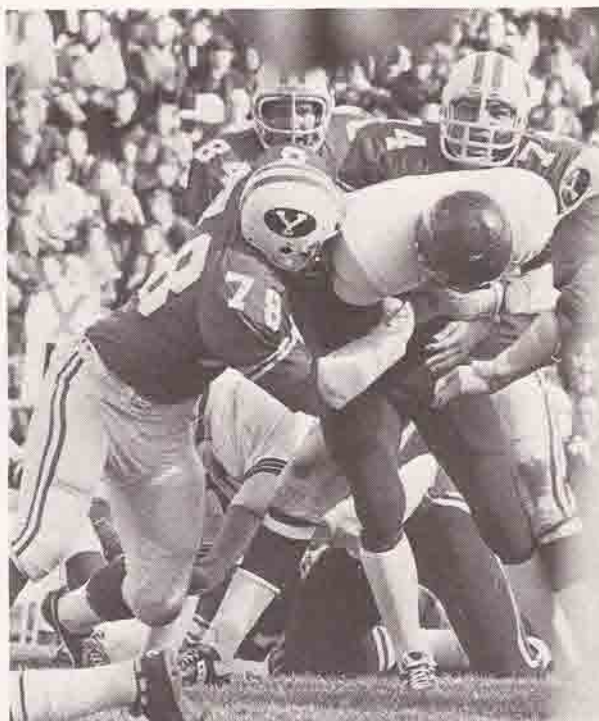

Rushing Game: It will be interesting to see how well the Cats can move the ball without VanValkenburg. Pete missed one game last season (Oregon State), and the general feeling was BYU might have won that one with Pete in the lineup. Nevertheless, the squad shouldn't be hurting for running backs. Dave Coon, a two-year veteran who had to sit out last season because of an operation, looms as Pete's replacement. Where VanValkenburg used to slice and weave, Coon bursts and barrels for yardage. In addition to Coon, the tailback spot has good depth in runners Dan Taylor, sophomores Gil Gillenwater and Jim Gunnell. Fullback chores rest with two seniors, both of whom are two-year lettermen; Steve Stratton and Wayne Bower. These two totalled 600 yards rushing between them last fall, about five yards per carry. Even without Pete, the Cougar running game should be adequate . . . or more.

Passing Game: Throwing chores were divided between southpaw Dave Terry and Bill August in '72, and the two, with the help of assistant coach Dewey Warren, did a creditable job in moving the Cougars on the ground and in the air. Terry, who is still recovering from wrist surgery, is returning for his senior year. And there is new talent to back him up—transfer Gary Sheide from Diablo Valley and sophomore Randy Litchfield, both of whom have good passing arms. While there is some uncertainty with these two, everyone fully expects the quarterbacking and the passing will be improved over last season. There'll be some real scrapping for the starting berth, which will keep the competitive level very high.

Kicking Game: Always a factor in the close games, kicking is something the Cougars may have to worry about this fall. John Monahan, who booted extra points and field goals (53 points worth), graduated. So the coaches are looking for a replacement. As for punting, Doug Coon did all the kicking last year, averaging about 38 yards on 66 kicks. Doug should be able to lengthen his punting game. The place-kicking is something else.

The Defense: BYU led the league in scoring defense last year. In recent times a strong defense has become an accepted part of the Cougar game. Defensive coordinator Dick Felt has indicated the Cougars will continue to go with the pro 4-3. The front four and linebackers should be on a par, perhaps better, than the '72 team. But there is a pronounced weakness (a dearth of experience) in the secondary. Cornerback Dave Atkinson, a co-captain who is in line for All-America attention this fall, is the only returning starter. Time could take care of this shortcoming, but it's a weakness opponents are likely to exploit, especially if the Cougar defenders can choke off the running game.

The Offense: Last season BYU was third in the league in scoring offense. The running game was slightly ahead of the aerial strike, but overall the Mountain Cats averaged 5.0 yards per play. Again, the forward wall should be strong. And if things start clicking at quarterback, the backfield could be as strong, or stronger, than in '72. Good group of receivers, and good experience on the line to help things along. Cougars will continue to use the pro-set with wide receivers.

The Freshmen: The freshmen rule introduced last year provided some help with four frosh lettering in first or second team positions; linebacker Phil Jensen (first team); split end Jay Miller; offensive guard Lance Reynolds; and wingback Lynn Zwahlen. An equal number of first-year players could help this fall, but only time will tell. Two newcomers of note are split end George Harris (Burnsville, Minn.) and tackle Dean Paynter (Kearns, Utah).

Transfers, Redshirts: Half a dozen transfers, including quarterback Gary Sheide will be aboard this fall. Shiede, who hasn't had a lot of playing time, is considered a top prospect. Also, the Cougars have a fine receiver in Sam LoBue from California, and defensive back Mike Russell (Santa Rosa). Of the red-shirts, aside from Dave Coon, two figure as probable starters, defensive end Stan Varner and defensive back Reed Gempeler.

League Outlook: Arizona State, who else? Sun Devils still too strong, except for an infrequent upset every other season or so. Utah is the next choice, in the eyes of Coach Edwards, with Arizona close behind. Thereafter, the race is jumbled. New Mexico and BYU could figure in the first division. And the outstanding player in the league should be All-American Woody Green of Arizona State.

Summary: The surprise element is gone, but any of the 11 opponents can expect a pretty good ball game from the Cougars. Both offensive and defensive lines are strong with good depth, and the BYU backfield should be on a par with the '72 unit. Defensive backfield could be a problem, but this may not be the case. Experience and depth, for the most part, are on the plus side, but the Cats would like more speed in positions where it is necessary. Generally, the outlook is one of honest optimism.

DAVE ATKINSON

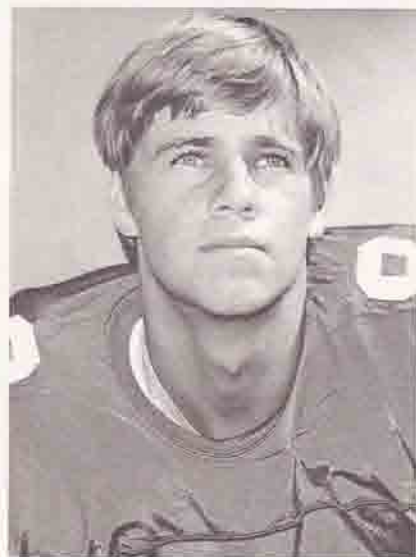

SCRIBE FORECASTS ATKINSON HONORS

Twenty-two years ago the Deseret News made the following prediction about young Dave Atkinson:

"Football prospects were definitely on the upgrade at Brigham Young University with the arrival on campus Wednesday of a future all-conference prospect.

The new arrival is a seven-pound boy of head football coach Charles L. (Chick) Atkinson and his wife. The father seems to be surviving in top condition, Utah Valley Hospital attendants reported."

What was intended as a bit of journalistic good-will to the Chick Atkinson family reached fulfillment last season when the Western Athletic Conference named BYU cornerback Dave Atkinson to the all-league team.

*All-American Candidate
Dave Atkinson*

But it's a cinch that Dave's performance on the football field was the key to his All-WAC selection, not the fact that his late father was head football coach at BYU from 1949-55.

In two seasons young Atkinson has proved himself to be one of the outstanding defensive backs the Cougars have ever had. He ranked fourth in NCAA statistics as a sophomore with nine pass interceptions in 11 games. Last season he picked off eight enemy aerals in 11 contests. His leadership on the field has made him a natural choice as one of the team's co-captains for 1973.

"If you had told me even 10 years ago that I would be an All-WAC cornerback and captain of the BYU football team, I wouldn't have believed it," says Dave with a modest grin. "But the last two seasons have been great and I'm looking forward to helping the team to an even better year in 1973."

Heading into his final season of play for the Cougars, Dave is only one steal away from the record for career interceptions (18). That's an unusual feat for a cornerback as Dave explains:

"An offense can avoid me simply by throwing to the other cornerback's man," the 6-2 theft artist says. "In my sophomore year I had nine interceptions in eight games, but then our opponents threw only four passes in my direction in the final three games of the season. There isn't much of a chance to intercept when they don't throw to you."

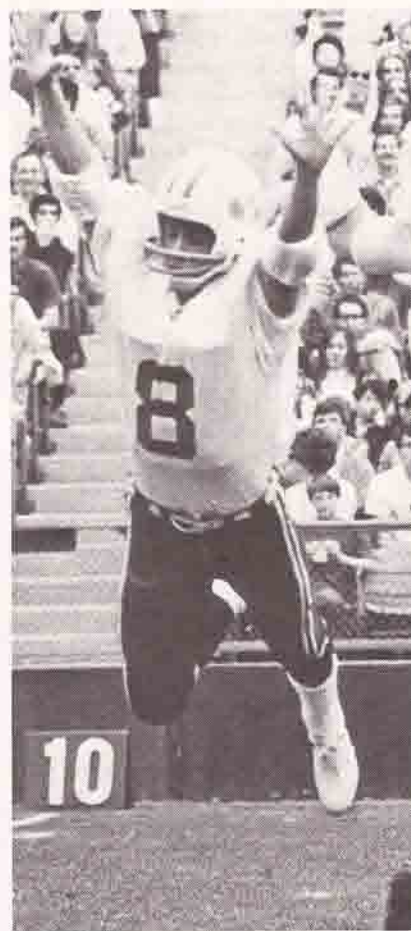

But if there's even one ball thrown in Dave's vicinity, he is a good bet to get his hands on it.

"Dave plays the ball real well," notes head coach LaVell Edwards. "He's very smooth and his great speed allows him to really go for the ball against even the best opponents. We expect him to do a lot for our defense this season, especially with our inexperience in the defensive secondary."

Perhaps the best example of Atkinson's contribution to the BYU defense can be found in last year's Long Beach State game in Anaheim. Dave was in on 15 tackles (10 unassisted), intercepted a pass and returned it 18 yards for a touchdown, deflected three passes and blocked a 49er try for extra point.

"Cornerback is a lonely position," he admits. "When you cover a receiver one-on-one, everyone can see the mistakes you make. It took me a while to be able to shake the jitters when I got on the field."

A broadcasting major, Dave would like a shot at pro ball before settling into a career in sports broadcasting. "I don't know how well I'll do in pro ball," he says. "There's a big difference between the pro game and the college game. But I'd really like a chance to prove myself."

Atkinson's brilliant career at BYU has already endeared him to the hometown fans. But then as the Deseret News stated, great things were expected of him since he arrived on the scene in Provo 22 years ago.

ATKINSON, DAVE (8), Cornerback, 6-2, 195, Sr., Provo, Utah—National recognition may be forthcoming for the defensive back who won first-team all-WAC notice as a junior . . . co-captain with Dave Coon . . . has a total of 17 interceptions in two years, needs only one more to tie school record . . . ranked fourth in NCAA stax as a sophomore, tenth as a junior . . . born 5/9/51 . . . son of late football coach Chick Atkinson of BYU (1949-55) . . . all-state quarterback at Provo High . . . switched to defensive back in college . . . redshirted '70 season . . . has good speed, good hitter . . . ranked third and fourth in team defensive stax past two seasons . . . DAVE COON

THE TIRELESS ALL-PURPOSE BACK

It's not that he's shy or a loner by nature, but BYU running back Dave Coon enjoys avoiding people whenever he gets his hands on a football.

And Dave can avoid an enemy defense in more ways than you might think. Rush him too hard on a sweep and he'll pass to an open teammate. Leave him alone on a faked handoff and he's likely to catch a pass himself. Give him a hole in the line and he'll break it for long yardage.

The senior co-captain from Las Vegas, Nev., will be counted on to do it all this year, and he'll be stepping into a most challenging situation at the same time. Dave is expected to fill the shoes of last year's national rushing leader, Pete VanValkenburg. And that's no easy chore.

But many BYU fans will remember that it was Dave Coon, not VanValkenburg, who was the big name in the Cougar backfield at the end of the 1971 season.

Most of that season found Dave running in a crowd with moderate results. Then in the final three games he turned killer, eating up large chunks of yardage on each carry. He had learned to sidestep the opposing defense.

"It took me some time to get the knack of being a running back," says Dave, who started at BYU four years ago as a quarterback. "Experience has been the key to my improvement. Maybe I should have been a runner all along."

The final three BYU opponents of 1971 saw a new Dave Coon in the backfield. Against Arizona State he racked up 107 yards in 18 carries, including a 35-yard scoring jaunt. The next week he rambled for 100 yards in 18 tries against Arizona and scored on a 31-yard run.

In the season's finale against Utah, he gained 137 yards in 15 attempts and had a long gain of 53 yards.

That's the way coach LaVell Edwards remembers Dave Coon—breaking tackles and showing his heels to the defense. In short, avoiding people.

"We are glad to have Dave with us this year," says Edwards. "We expect him to pick up where he left off two years ago and have a big season for us. He's got all the tools—speed, balance, strength."

Actually the 1972 season should have ended Coon's eligibility. Edwards recalls Dave and VanValkenburg were "neck and neck" prior to fall workouts for their senior year. But a painful calcium deposit under Dave's kneecap necessitated surgery just a few weeks prior to the season. He redshirted and concentrated on getting the leg back into shape. A regular on the Cougar baseball team, Dave also elected to sit out that season and work out in spring football practice instead.

"The spring experience was a big help for me," he admits. "I needed work on my timing and the spring game helped me a great deal. The leg is sound now, and I've been running and lifting weights every day to be in top condition when fall practice opens."

Dave has always been one to put out 100 percent, and this is one reason he was selected as one of the co-captains for the coming season. "Being captain shouldn't make much difference in my performance," he says, "but then I really haven't thought about it. I'll have to see about that in the fall."

Meanwhile Dave Coon will be busy working on new ways to avoid people, namely unfriendly opponents on the gridiron.

DAVE COON (10), Tailback, 6-0, 185, Senior, Las Vegas, Nev.—A leg operation kept Coon out of action last fall, thus forcing him into a redshirt situation . . . very versatile athlete . . . started as QB with-fresh, then shifted to tailback-fullback mid-year of sophomore season . . . in two seasons accumulated 750 yards rushing . . . also caught 19 passes, and can uncork surprise aeriels as running back . . . born 7/23/51 . . . was all-everything at Las Vegas High . . . also studentbody president . . . he scored 36 points in four games as a freshman . . . fine all-around baseball player . . . was all-conference all-NCAA District Seven baseball player as a sophomore . . . his younger brother, Doug, is a two-year letterman (pitcher and DPH) and did all of Cougar punting last fall . . . a business administration major . . . single.

PAUL LINFORD

THE THINKING MAN'S DEFENSIVE TACKLE

For nearly four quarters in a game played last October, BYU defensive tackle Paul Linford had been butting heads with Texas-El Paso guard Craig Toomay.

It had been a busy day, and the 6-5, 245 lb. Linford already had the edge on his 6-5, 225 lb. opponent. Paul had made five unassisted tackles and had dumped UTEP ball carriers in their own backfield six times.

In fact, on two consecutive plays, the big Cougar lineman had nailed Miner quarterback Gary Keithley for ten-yard losses. Those tackles had seemingly clinched a 21-14 Cougar homecoming victory before Keithley rallied the Miners for one final drive.

Then, with 14 seconds to play and the ball on the BYU 17-yard line, Linford prepared for his final charge at Toomay and Keithly. As Paul made his move, Toomay made sure the Cougar defender didn't get the quarterback again—but he had to hold him to do it. The official's flag went into the air at the same time the Miners completed a pass in the end zone. The play was nullified, and the Cougars held on for the win.

"On the play before, their number 63 (Toomay) was holding me," said Linford in the aftermath. "I told the official to watch him. I broke in and he grabbed my jersey and I went down. The referee was right there watching and dropped his flag."

Paul's extra precaution couldn't have come at a better time for the Cougars. The win in their first WAC outing gave them enough momentum for a 7-4 overall record and a second place tie in the WAC with a 5-2 mark. A loss to the UTEP crew would have cost the Cats their high finish.

Cougar fans in the stadium for that UTEP contest last fall saw the emergence of Paul Linford as one of the WAC's premier pass rushers and defensive linemen. Up to that point, he had been developing slowly (he was only in on one assisted tackle in his varsity debut against Kansas State). But by the time the conference race began, he was more than ready for the challenge.

Other WAC foes learned for themselves that the sophomore tackle had a devastating combination of size and speed. In the Wyoming game, Paul was credited with eight tackles (four unassisted, four assisted) and dumped the Cowboys behind the line of scrimmage on two occasions.

The next week against Arizona's Wildcats, he was nominated for WAC Lineman of the Week for his four unassisted tackles and nine assisted tackles. In the final game of the season with New Mexico, the Cougar giant was again at his best with two unassisted tackles and nine assisted stops in a 21-7 victory.

When the final defensive statistics were tabulated, Paul wound up in fifth place in the BYU totals. He had 24 unassisted tackles, 45 assisted tackles, 12 tackles for a loss and caused two fumbles. He was named to the All-WAC defensive team and earned recognition as the conference's Sophomore of the Year from the loop's sports information directors.

Head coach LaVell Edwards joined the Linford bandwagon by saying, "I have never had a sophomore line man develop and play as well as Paul has. He has the potential to be a super football player. He is strong, fast and smart. We expect a good season from him in 1973."

STEVE STRATTON

A RUNNER WHO ENJOYS BLOCKING

It's hard to pinpoint where BYU fullback Steve Stratton is most effective.

The 6-0, 215 lb. senior has drawn much praise from the BYU coaching staff for his ferocious blocking, but then he's averaged 5.3 yards per carry in his two seasons of running with the pigskin. And there's Steve Stratton the student, who has a 3.51 grade point average in physical therapy and was named to the All-WAC Academic team last year.

Steve himself doesn't try to supply an answer to the puzzle. "I enjoy blocking," says the Cougars' second leading ground-gainer in 1972. "Two years ago on third-and-one, they'd give the ball to me. Last year they gave the ball to Pete (VanValkenburg) and had me block—it made more sense that way."

No one will dispute the wisdom of the Cougar strategy. VanValkenburg was the NCAA rushing leader in 1972 and the team ran up a 7-4 record to finish second in the Western Athletic Conference. But VanValkenburg is gone now, and the Cougar running game must make some adjustments for the 1973 season.

"Balance will be the key to any improvement we make in our offense," says Coach LaVell Edwards, "and this is particularly true of our running game. We expect Steve and our other runners to give us a more balanced ground game in 1973. Steve has good power as a runner, and he's one of the best blocking backs in the conference."

Once through the secondary Stratton turns it on.

While he will not be expected to abandon his blocking assignments this year, there is a good chance Steve will carry the mail more than he did in 1972. He did gain 328 yards in 78 carries as a junior for a 4.3 average.

The highlight of last season for Stratton was the Utah game, where the Mountain Cats outlasted their northern rivals, 16-7. Steve gained 90 yards in 19 carries, as he and Van Valkenburg teamed for their best day of the season. Steve's first period touchdown also helped in no small way, as it gave the Cats the needed momentum for the win.

Steve came to BYU from Placer High School in Auburn, Calif., where he excelled in football and wrestling. In fact he developed his muscular frame mainly through activities on the gridiron and wrestling mat. Only in the last few years has he been on a program of weightlifting.

After an average freshman season with the BYU Kittens, Steve broke into the limelight as a sophomore by gaining 108 yards in the second half of the Colorado State game. A knee injury hampered his running from time to time, but he had a great day (173 yards in 20 carries) as the Cats humbled Wyoming, 35-17. It was the first time in 30 years the Cougars had won a game in Laramie.

Many local fans look for a return to that running form by the muscular Californian, who will likely team with Dave Coon to handle the BYU ground game this season.

A career in physical therapy (possibly as an athletic trainer) awaits Steve after graduation. At this point he doesn't seem inclined to go into professional football, but then it may take his senior year to help him identify the strongest of his many talents.

STRATTON, STEVE (35) Fullback, 6-0, 215, Sr., Auburn, Calif.—A real thrust in the Cougar attack, Steve's contribution has been substantial during the past two seasons . . . has rushed for 831 yards and six TDs . . . seldom stopped short of a gain (lost only six yards in 78 carries last fall) . . . his two-year rushing average at BYU is 5.3 yards per carry . . . DAVE TERRY

NEVER TOO SMALL TO QUARTERBACK

For quarterback Dave Terry, life is a numbers game.

The license plate on Dave's sporty little Porsche reads, "BYU - 1" Terry's jersey number is 13 (obviously he is not superstitious) and his weight—165—is climbing.

All of these numbers add up to one thing—the Cougars' southpaw quarterback is willing to change whatever he can to reach his goal.

The California license plate reflects his positive thinking about himself and the destiny of the club he quarterbacks. For him, it's that simple.

His jersey number is a tipoff that the young man from Newport Beach, Calif., isn't beholden to superstition; even in a sport where any kind of edge is encouraged.

As for his weight, that's one thing he wants to change.

"People have always said that I'm too small for football," says the 5-11 junior. "Although I'm not the biggest player on the field, I feel ability and not size alone has a lot to do with success."

While Dave proved that he can perform well at his listed weight, he wants to do something about it. He is following a weight program that should see him report in at over 175, or about ten pounds heavier than when he left school this summer.

Terry has had two seasons as BYU quarterback.

While most players battle to make their suggested limit on the first day of practice, Dave will be fighting a war of his own in another direction.

With or without the extra weight poundage, Terry's signal calling could be the key factor in the Cougars' program for success.

Last year Dave connected on 62 of 122 aeriels attempted, which accounted for 742 yards and a pair of touchdowns. He also rushed for an additional 120 yards. But the statistic that may be remembered the most was his mark for passing accuracy. His percentage of completion was .512, new school record.

The figure and totals might have been higher, had not Terry suffered broken bone in his passing hand. The injury took some of the edge off Dave's game, but he stayed in there until the end of the season before submitting to surgery.

As the situation now stands, the operation was a success. Dave is strengthening his passing and should be at full strength for the start of the season.

DAVE TERRY (13) Quarterback, 5-11, 175, Sr., Newport, Beach, Calif.—Back for his final season, Dave has accumulated over 100 yards running and passing in two years . . . at the start of his sophomore year he hit on 11 straight attempts before missing . . . set a new school record of .512 on percentage of completion . . . born 10/3/51 . . . was all-Orange Coast at Corona Del Mar High in Newport Beach . . . a '70 season redshirt . . . is credited with a 10.6 in the 100 . . . made high school honor roll . . . majoring in international relations . . . single.

ORRIN OLSEN

OVER 235 POUNDS, STILL GROWING

When you stand 6-3 and weigh 235 pounds, is it still possible to "grow up" on the football field?

Just ask BYU defensive end Orrin Olsen, and he'll tell you the answer is definitely "yes."

"I had an inferiority complex at the beginning of last season," says Orrin. "Sometimes I felt I couldn't compete on a par with older, more experienced players. But things came more easily with each game, and now I know I can do the job this season."

Orrin came of age in 1972, shaking off sophomore inconsistencies to earn honorable mention acclaim to the All-WAC defensive team. He finished the season as a solid fixture on the Cougar defensive line and ranked eighth in defensive statistics despite sharing playing time in the early outings.

"Orrin came to us very highly publicized," recalls coach LaVell Edwards. "There was a lot of pressure on him to make the grade and he has responded well to the situation. He played extremely well at the end of the year and with his speed, quickness and strength, he should have an outstanding season for us."

"I've felt more at home at defensive end each year," Orrin smiles. "I played tackle in high school, but switched to end as a freshman here at the Y. The freedom of movement at end suits me just fine and I expect to be more consistent and more effective this season. It's a real challenge to play defense, but I love it."

The youngest of nine children born to Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Olsen, Orrin comes from a family that has produced pro football standouts Merlin and Phil Olsen of the Los Angeles Rams. And Orrin admits that having his family root for him is a big help.

Last season, for instance, Merlin and Phil were in the stands to watch the BYU-Long Beach State game at Anaheim. Orrin responded with one of his best efforts of the year, getting in on nine unassisted tackles as the Cougars won, 38-27.

"The coach just called the right defense at the right time," explains Orrin as to how the Cats shut off the 49ers in the second half for their come-from-behind victory. "That game proved a lot of things to the team. We knew we could win the tough ones and were ready for the conference race to begin."

The Cougars went on to post a 5-2 record in the WAC, good enough for a tie for second place behind champion Arizona State.

Orrin is understandably optimistic about the Cougars' chances in the upcoming WAC grid campaign. "We have the material and the coaching staff now to build a winner," he notes. "The players' efforts will make the difference. We have to avoid harping on the good or bad of the past and take full advantage of the situation at hand."

That very philosophy was the key to the 1972 season for Orrin, and having learned his lesson, he appears ready for an even better showing this fall.

No. 1 - Colorado State September 15 - 7:30 at Provo

LOCATION: Fort Collins, Colo.
COLORS: Green and Gold
CONFERENCE: Western Athletic

ENROLLMENT: 16,000
MASCOT: Rams
STADIUM: Hughes (30,000)

HEAD COACH: Sark Arslanian (Utah '50) 1st season at CSU
1972 RECORD: 1-10 for the season, 1-4 in WAC (7th place)
SERIES RECORD: The Rams are still in front with a 20-13-2 edge in a series that dates back to 1926. The Cougars, however, have won four of the last five games between the two schools.
OUTLOOK: This could be the turn-around year for the Rams, as new head coach Sark Arslanian takes over a team of 32 returning lettermen. Moreover, Sark will have the entire '72 offensive team returning, plus nine of 11 backup men. Add 33 frosh prospects, plus redshirts, and the picture looks good. Rams are working hard to strengthen defenses.

STADIUM: Parker (41,000)

HEAD COACH: Dee Andros (Oklahoma '50) 45-37-1 at OSU
1972 RECORD: 2-9 overall, and one of the two victories came at the expense of BYU
SERIES RECORD: The series stands at 3-1, Oregon State. The only Cougar win came in 1967, when BYU handed the Beavers a stunning upset, 31-13 during one of OSU's better seasons. Otherwise the Beavers have had big margins in victory.
OUTLOOK: OSU has dropped the power-T in favor of the pro-type I-formation, and it looks like the Beavers will be going to a passing game. A total of 36 lettermen are returning, and Andros also picked up more help in form of 13 junior college transfers. One of the transfers is Alvin White, 6-3 quarterback who passed for just under 2,000 yards last year.

HEAD COACH: Phil Krueger (SE Missouri State '51) 1st Season
1971 RECORD: 9-2 overall, and winner of the Beehive Boot for the second year in a row.
SERIES RECORD: The Aggies have a pretty good edge, 28-17-3, in the series that started in 1922. Last year the Ags posted a 42-19 win over BYU in game at Provo. Game trophy is the Old Wagon Wheel.
OUTLOOK: In his first season with the Aggies, new head coach Phil Krueger is using positive thinking with the program. Three major goals are (1) retain the Beehive Boot, (2) rank among top 20 in wire service polls, and (3) be a candidate for post-season bid. SERIES RECORD: The two teams have played only twice, with Iowa State winning them both, 28-20 in Provo (1968) and 10-0 at Ames (1969).
OUTLOOK: Offensively, the Cyclones are in great shape with eight starters from last year's starting unit returning. The question offensively rests at quarterback, however. Running game will feature Mike Strachan, leading rusher in the Big Eight. Defense should be solid, too.

1972 RECORD: 10-2 for the season 5-1 in WAC (1st place); winner of Fiesta Bowl, 49-35 over Missouri.
SERIES RECORD: The road is getting tougher and tougher for BYU. Arizona State holds 13-3 edge, and last BYU victory was back in 1965, 24-6, at Tempe.
OUTLOOK: So who's in the running for second place? The Sun Devils have won four WAC titles in a row, plus three straight bowl games. And there's no sign of cooling in the future. All-American Woody Green leads the offensive parade, and quarterback Danny White is back. Stronger defense could cinch it for ASU again.

SERIES RECORD: After a long string of losses to the Cowboys, BYU is bouncing back, winning in Laramie and Provo the last two years. Prior to that, Wyoming had given up only three games in series since World War II. Cowboys ahead 23-16-3 in series.
OUTLOOK: Coach Fritz Shurmur is looking to an improved season with a team that is basically young and aggressive. Depth could be a problem, but a general improvement in speed and overall defense.

 SERIES RECORD: It's been neck-and-neck most of the way since first game in 1951. Cougars won 21-7 decision in Albuquerque in finale of '72 season. Series now stands at 11-10-1, BYU.
 OUTLOOK: Lobos acquired fine quarterback in Don Woods, who led the NAIA in total offense last year while at New Mexico Highlands. Good backup at QB may find the Lobos passing more this season. Fullback Rich Diller helps ground game, but defense could be a weakness.

 OUTLOOK: A lot of emphasis is being put on "new image" building with head coach Jim Young, and Jim will have help in form of 14 returning starters. Strong offensive and defensive lines, and Wildcats could be serious threat with improvement in offensive backfield and defensive secondary.

 OUTLOOK: Headed by quarterback Don Van Galder, the Utes should have a powerful offense going this fall. A total of 15 starters from last year returning, and overall the team will be quicker and more experienced. Defense needs fortifying, but not much lacking otherwise.

 SERIES RECORD: A really hot series between these two schools, and it could continue to warm with Tommy Hudspeth at the UTEP helm. Current record is 5-5-1, thanks to Cougar 21-14 win last fall. They traded shutouts the two previous seasons.
 OUTLOOK: Admittedly a question mark at this stage, the Miners may have to look to the Jayvee ranks for help. A quarterback to throw to receivers like Greg Taylor and Lonnie Crittenden would get the Miners rolling. Overall the outlook is uncertainty.

A YEAR OF SURPRISES, PLUS

The 1972 season went into the record books with an inordinate number of asterisks and footnotes. It was one of those football campaigns that contained the unusual and the surprising, fortunately, most of them on the positive side.

As the surprise team of the Western Athletic Conference, the Cougars were picked for seventh or eighth place by the experts, but finished with a 7-4 overall record and tied Utah for second place in the standings.

First-year coach LaVell Edwards was named the Coach of the Year in the WAC, and also became the first coach in BYU history to come up with a winning season his first year at the helm.

The Cougars' successes, as a matter of fact, were so pleasant that the hurrahs may linger into the fore of the '73 season.

Individually, the player most likely to be identified with 1972 is tailback Pete VanValkenburg. Fleet Pete not only set records, but he also garnered some All-America recognition in the process. He became the first BYU player to win a national rushing title (138.6 yards per game), and he finished the season as the number two performer in NCAA all-purpose running (183.8 yards per game).

Pete beat out several outstanding ball carriers in the college ranks, including All-American Woody Green of Arizona State, in the final week of the season. The Moving Van rushed for 190 yards in the final game of the year (New Mexico) to nose out Green and Miami's Bob Hitchens for the title.

In all, Pete set a total of eight school records, including most yards rushing during a playing career (2,392). He also scored more points than any player in BYU history.

For a team whose passing game was supposed to be in question, the Cougars produced some notable results. Quarterback Bill August set a new school mark in interception avoidance (3.4%), and junior QB Dave Terry's completion percentage for the season (.512) was a new high at BYU.

Safety Dan Hansen tied a career record at BYU with 18 interceptions, and his yardage on intercepted returns (421) is also a school record.

As a team, the Cougars led the league in scoring defense, and were listed no lower than fourth in all other team offensive and defensive statistics.

Sept. 16 - BYU 32, Kansas State 9 at Provo (1-0). Night, fair weather, 75°, 31,753 in attendance. Coach LaVell Edwards and Cougars made an impressive debut, sticking Big Eight school with real upset. . . . Pete VanValkenburg rushed for 164 yards on 16 carries. . . . Cats had a 17-3 lead at half. . . . quarterback Dave Terry scored twice on runs. . . . John Monahan kicked two field goals.

September 23 - Utah State 42, BYU 19 at Provo (1-1). Night, clear 60°, 35,239 in attendance. Although BYU held a 16-14 lead at the half, the Aggies scored every time they got their hands on the ball in the second half. . . . USU's Gerry Hughes rushed for 161 yards.

September 30 - Oregon State 29, BYU 3 at Corvallis (1-2). Day, fair weather, 26,065 in attendance. Oregon State won its first game of the season after three losses. . . . Beavers ground out 241 yards rushing for three TD's and intercepted six BYU passes. . . . Cougars were crippled by the absence of Pete VanValkenburg, who suffered a hip injury in the Utah State game. . . . Cougars had net rushing total of only 66 yards. . . . BYU went 24 minutes before getting a first down. . . . John Monahan kicked 33-yard field goal in the second quarter for the Cats' only score. . . . low point of season.

October 7 - BYU 38, Long Beach State 27 at Anaheim (2-2). Day, overcast, 11,549 in attendance at Anaheim Stadium. . . . The Cougars demonstrated poise in this one, spotting the 49ers two TD's before scoring 38 points in the final three quarters. . . . Fleet Pete ran for 247 yards in 19 carries and scored on runs of 64, 73 and three yards. . . . defense also came of age. . . . Dan Hansen (10 unassisted tackles 2 assisted) and Orrin Olsen (9 unassisted, 2 assisted) put the clamps on the Californians. . . . cornerback Dave Atkinson had his biggest day with nine unassisted tackles, six assisted tackles, one pass interception for a TD and blocked conversion attempt.

October 14 - BYU 21, Texas-El Paso 14 at Provo (3-2). Day, clear and cool, 69°, 31,176 in attendance for the BYU homecoming game. . . . looked like a runaway with BYU 21-0 lead at halftime. . . . VanValkenburg scored twice, and BYU had 253 yards total offense at the half. . . . but quarterback Gary Keithley brought the Miners back, hitting 17 of 24 passes for 261 yards. . . . with time running out, UTEP had a first down on the BYU 17-yard line. . . . but holding penalty nullified Keithley's TD pass. . . . defensive tackle Paul Linford was outstanding, dumping the Miners behind the line of scrimmage six times. . . . quarterback Bill August clicked on 14 of 22 passes for 167 yards.

October 21 - Arizona State 49, BYU 17 at Provo (3-3). Day, cloudy 50°, 23,561 in attendance. . . . October 28 - BYU 44, Colorado State 8 at Fort Collins (4-3). Day, overcast, 39°, 18,972 in attendance for CSU homecoming. . . . Cougars scored the first three times they had the ball. . . . Steve Stratton ran for a 28-yard TD and Bill August hit Logan Hunter and Lynn Zwahlen with TD passes for the BYU bulge. . . . BYU had 457 yards total offense for the day. . . . BYU defense was also stubborn, limiting the Rams to only 57 yards passing. . . . Craig Crompton returned a third-quarter interception 56 yards for a score. . . . Ram passer Terry Driscoll was caught in the end zone for a safety in third quarter. . . . VanValkenburg had 84 yards in 17 carries.

November 4 - BYU 33, Wyoming 14 at Provo (5-3). Day, partly cloudy, 58°, 22,373 in attendance. . . . BYU held a slim 10-7 halftime lead before uncorking the offense for three TD's and a field goal in the second half. . . . Wyoming's vaunted running game was limited to 104 yards by the BYU defense. . . . Ron Tree and Craig Crompton also had key interceptions for the Cats. . . . BYU quarterbacks completed 13 of 23 for 176 yards and two TD's. . . . Pete VanValkenburg racked up 184 yards in 26 carries for two scores. . . . win moved the Cougars' WAC record to 3-1.

November 11 - Arizona 21, BYU 7 at Tucson (5-4). Day, fair, 65°, 26,500 in attendance for Arizona's homecoming. . . . a big game for both teams. . . . Cougar mistakes killed chances to take the lead. . . . BYU had more total offense than Arizona, 328 to 269. . . . key play was 78-yard interception TD return by Bob White as the Cats were threatening late in the first half. . . . rushing battle saw Bob McCall gain 154 yards in 34 carries for Arizona, while VanValkenburg had 155 in 30 tries.

November 18 - BYU 16, Utah 7 at Salt Lake City (6-4). Day, overcast, 47°, 24,917 in attendance. . . . a real thriller that wasn't decided until closing minutes. . . . Ute loss knocked them out of the Fiesta Bowl running. . . . Steve Stratton TD run and a safety provided 9-0 halftime lead. . . . Ike Spencer cut that margin with a 70-yard TD run in the third period. . . . see-saw battle ensued with the Cougars losing the ball on three fumbles in the fourth quarter. . . . HISTORICAL

Although football—or what was known as foot-ball—was played at the Academy around the turn of the century, it was terminated soon thereafter because of a player fatality. It was not resumed on campus as an intercollegiate sport until 1922.

In the 47 seasons that followed (no games during World War II) the Cougars had 11 coaches and played over 400 games. The Cougars haven't had any undefeated seasons, but Ott Romney had an 8-1 season (1932), and Tom Hudspeth logged an 8-2 record in 1966.

Several ball players have won national recognition, or have set national records that still stand. One of the most recent was Eldon "The Phantom" Forte, tailback who was named to several All-America teams in 1962.

A player of more recent vintage is Virgil Carter, outstanding quarterback in the mid-sixties (1964-66) who still holds three major NCAA records. At one time Carter was credited with more yards total offense (6,354 yards) than any player in college football history. His 68 touchdowns is also a career record, and his 599 yards in a single game is also an NCAA high.

Another former player who is legend at BYU is Phil Odle, the Cougars' classy split end (1966-68) who is ranked among the top NCAA receivers (181 receptions for 2548 yards) of all time. Chris Fargasopoulos, the Galloping Greek, set two NCAA records in punt and kickoff return yardage. Golden Richards also set or tied three NCAA kick-return records two seasons ago, and last fall Pete VanValkenburg led the nation in rushing.

Welcome to Brigham Young University via the 1973 BYU Football Press Guide. We hope that it will supply you with most of the basic information needed to cover the Cougars this season, but if added information or photos are desired, please contact us.

Press box tickets for all home games will be limited to working members of the press, radio, television, visiting information directors, and college scouts.

Press passes will be issued on an individual game basis and requests must be received in the Sports Information Office no later than three days before the game.

No women or children will be allowed in the press area, except for women press representatives.

A play-by-play account will be furnished at the end of each half. Complete half-time, final, and individual statistics and other materials will be offered both during and after the game.

The main press area is located on the west side of the stadium. The main press area is on the first (or lower) level with radio and scouts in the second level.
