THE UNIVERSITY

Sponsored by the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints (commonly called the Mormon Church), Brigham Young University will celebrate its centennial year in 1975-76. The school is the largest church-related institution of higher learning in the nation.

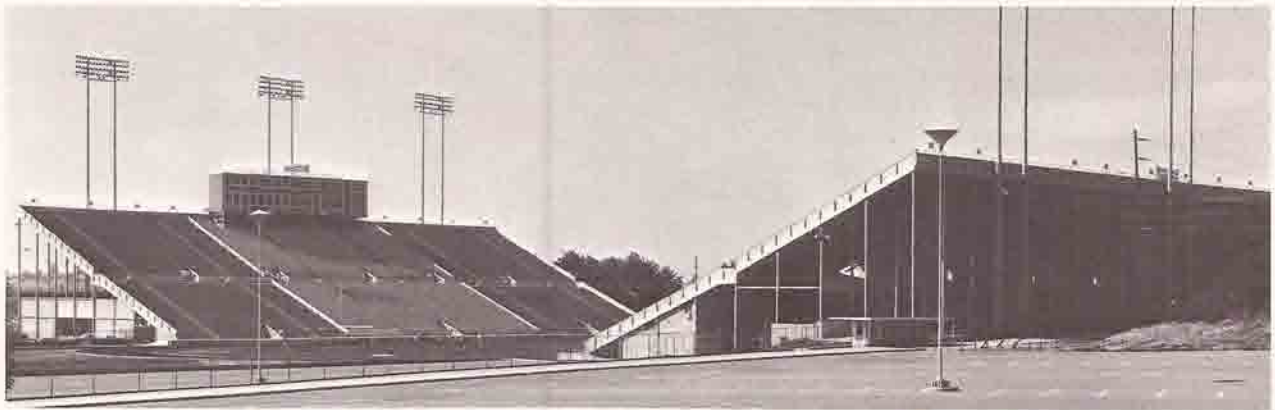

The University's enrollment has a 25,000-student ceiling, and there are more than 1,000 full-time faculty members, 65% of whom hold doctor's degrees. Students represent all 50 states and 69 foreign countries, and instruction is offered in 150 subject areas by the University's 14 colleges and graduate schools. The curriculum includes instruction in the humanities, the arts, the natural sciences, the social sciences and the revealed word of God.

Students of any race, color, creed, or national origin are accepted for admission to Brigham Young University, provided they meet the University's academic requirements and their personal behavior conforms to the standards of the Church.

The campus is situated just 45 miles south of historic Salt Lake City in beautiful Utah Valley. While the school is located within Provo City limits, the 536-acre campus is at the foot of the Wasatch Mountains northeast of town. The mountains form a backdrop to the east, north and south with Utah Lake on the west.

Founded Oct. 16, 1875 by Brigham Young, the school is the academic center of learning for the Mormon Church. But emphasis is also placed in spiritual values, on friendly association and personal development. Health and physical fitness, too, are an essential part of the program.

Brigham Young University's 30,000-seat stadium was built in 1964.

WESTERN ATHLETIC CONFERENCE

Growing in prestige and influence with each passing year, the Western Athletic Conference will be beginning its 12th year in 1974-75. In the period since its formation, it has established itself as one of the finest leagues in the nation. The eight member schools extend over a period of six states in the Rocky Mountain-Southwest with headquarters in the Denver Hilton.

Serving as commissioner of the WAC is Stan Bates who is in his fourth year in that position. Commissioner Bates is a former director of athletics at Washington State, and assumed his present post on July 1, 1971. Other WAC commissioners were Paul Brächler (1962-1968) and Wiles Hallock (1968-1971).

The Western Athletic Conference came into being on July 1, 1962. There were six charter members: Arizona, Arizona State, Brigham Young, New Mexico, Utah and Wyoming. Two members, Colorado State University and Texas-El Paso, were added to the group on July 1, 1968.

Conference headquarters are located in the Denver-Hilton, 1515 Cleveland Place (Area Code 303, 222-1743), Denver, Colo., 80202.

Director of information for the WAC is Nordy Jensen, who took over his job in July, 1972. John Adams is supervisor of officials.

THE UNIVERSITY ADMINISTRATION

Dr. Dallin Oaks, President

PRESIDENT OAKS

The President of Brigham Young University is 42-year-old Dallin Oaks, who assumed the responsibilities of the nation's largest church-related institution of higher learning Aug. 1, 1971. President Oaks, a former professor of law at University of Chicago, replaced Dr. Ernest L. Wilkinson who served as president of BYU for a period of 20 years (1951-1971).

President Oaks was born in Provo, Utah, on Aug. 12, 1932, a son of the late Dr. Lloyd E. Oaks and Stella H. Oaks. He graduated from BYU in 1954 with high honors, receiving the B.A. degree in accounting and economics. At University of Chicago Law School he received the Doctor of Jurisprudence degree in 1957, graduating cum laude, second in a class of 86, and was named to the Order of the Coif. He was also editor-in-chief of the university's Law Review in 1956-57.

He began his legal career as a law clerk to Chief Justice of the United States Supreme Court, Earl Warren. A year later he entered private law practice in Chicago (Kirtland, Ellis, Hodson, Chaffetz and Masters). In 1961 he became associate professor of law at University of Chicago, and was associate dean from May 1962 to Jan. 1963, serving as dean during the last three months of this period. He was also Assistant States Attorney of Cook County (1964) and visiting professor of law at University of Michigan Law School (1968).

From January through June 1970, he was on leave of absence to serve as legal and research adviser to the Bill of Rights Committee of the Illinois Constitutional Convention. He became executive director of the American Bar Foundation (1970).

Pres. Oaks has been co-editor, co-author, or author of four books dealing with subjects of church and state, trust law, operation of criminal courts in Chicago. He has also authored about thirty articles in leading periodicals and other magazines.

An active member of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, he served as first counselor in the presidency of the Chicago Stake (district) and was formerly mission president in Chicago Stake. He is currently serving as a Regional Representative for the LDS Church.

He married June Dixon of Spanish Fork, Utah, and they have five children: Mrs. Jack (Sharmen) Ward; Mrs. Louis (Cheri) Ringger, Jr.; Lloyd, Dallin and TruAnn.

STAN WATTS, Athletic Chairman

If anyone on the Provo campus deserves the athletic title of "Mr. BYU," it's Stan Watts, the Cougars' athletic chairman . . . until the spring of 1972 when he elected to retire from coaching, he wore two hats . . . his basketball teams won back-to-back WAC championships (1971-72) before Watts decided to spend full-time directing Cougar athletic affairs . . . although he has coached football, baseball, track and basketball in his 26 years at BYU, Stan is identified most with the cage game where he coached BYU teams for 23 years . . . he also served as assistant director of athletics and acting director of athletics, taking over the chairman duties in the summer of 1970 . . . born Aug. 30, 1911 in Murray, Utah . . . son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Watts . . . attended Murray High (1928), was an all-around athlete at Weber State (class of '36), and won letters in several sports at BYU (class of '38) . . . began coaching career at Millard High (1938-41) where one of his top players was Clarence Robison, now BYU track coach . . . was A.D. and cage coach at Dixie College (1941-45) . . . coached three sports at Jordan High (1945-47) . . . joined the athletic staff at BYU in 1947, coaching baseball, track and assisted in football and basketball . . . replaced Floyd Millet as head basketball coach (1949) . . . his teams have won two NIT titles ('51 and '66), eight conference championships . . . his overall basketball record is 431-260 . . . assistant director of athletics (1949) . . . former president of the National Association of Basketball Coaches (1969-70) . . . member of NCAA rules committee . . . author of "Developing an Offensive Attack in Basketball" . . . married Emily Kelly Aug. 21, 1939 . . . four children; Mrs. Dennis (Janice) Jones, Mrs. Richard (Susan) Coon, Mrs. Edward (Judy) Cannon and Howard Watts . . . phone 373-8156.

DR. CLAYNE R. JENSEN, Dean

A new administrator will be overseeing the Cougars' athletic program when the 1974-75 school year begins this fall . . . Dr. Clayne R. Jensen will be the new dean, replacing Dr. Milton F. Hartvigsen who was in that position for nearly 19 years . . . although a new administrative figure to many, Dr. Jensen has been professor and assistant dean since 1968 . . . has been involved in various administrative assignments since then . . . born March 17, 1930 in Gunnison, Utah . . . graduated from Utah in P.E. in 1952 . . . received his masters from Utah in 1956, and his doctorate from Indiana in 1963 . . . from 1953-55 he was a captain in the U.S. Marine Corps, and coached two all-Marine championship teams in track and field . . . was teaching assistant at Utah (1955-56) and Indiana (1961-62) . . . was faculty member at Utah State (1956-64), and associate professor and coordinator of college programs, P.E. at BYU (1965-67) . . . member of Phi Kappa Phi and recipient of Breithardt Athletic Foundation Award (1955) . . . author of several books and texts . . . member and chairman of several professional boards and special committees dealing with recreation and parks . . . holds membership in five professional organizations . . . has traveled in 44 states and 18 countries . . . married to former Elouise Henrie, and they have four boys; Caig (a defensive back on BYU football team) 19, Mike, 16, Blake, 14, and Chris 10.

DR. MILTON F. HARTVIGSEN, Faculty Representative

Former dean of the College of Physical Education, and key administrator and planner in BYU's program in recent years, is Dr. Milton F. Hartvigsen, who is now serving as faculty representative . . . Dr. Hartvigsen has been a powerful force in shaping the Cougar sports program, and served as dean for a total of 18 years . . . born Feb. 26, 1907 . . . attended Idaho State, obtained his B.S. degree from Utah State in 1930 . . . served as coach and teacher at Grace, Ida. LaVell Edwards, Head Football Coach

COACHING STAFF

It's taken only two years for LaVell Edwards to establish himself as one of the area's foremost coaches. But there was a time early last fall when the 43-year-old head coach may have had his doubts. The Cougars got off to a shaky start, but rallied to finish strong in a season that had a little bit of everything.

Two years ago Edwards took a team that wasn't given much of a chance for any kind of season and guided it to a 7-4 record and a tie for second-place in the WAC. The Cougars' showing brought WAC Coach of the Year honors to the local boy whose boyhood dream was to coach football at BYU.

After two seasons, Edwards' record stands at 12-10, which may not be a true reflection of the progress that has been made in BYU football under Edwards' direction.

LaVell became the Cougars' 11th head coach two years ago last January, when he was selected as replacement for the departing Tommy Hudspeth. Prior to his appointment as head coach he had served ten years on BYU's football staff, the last few years as chief assistant and defensive coordinator.

Coach Edwards got his start within the shadows of BYU. He was an all-state player at Lincoln High School (now Orem High) where he was all-state two years. At Utah State in Logan he won all-conference honors as center and linebacker.

In 1962 he joined the Cougar staff as an assistant, and his specialty has been defense. His defensive units have had notable success.

Among many of his strong points is his gift for working with other people. He has excellent rapport with the players and coaches, including opposing coaches. In fact, LaVell seems to get along well with everyone.

THE OUTLOOK

PROMISING, BUT WITH RESERVATIONS

Quotes From Coach: "We'll be a solid, improved football team. . . . if. And the "if" conditions could be critical for us. We will need to have our offensive line develop rapidly to support our offensive attack. And, secondly, we will have to keep our people healthy, especially key personnel."

"Our strength will be in the defensive line and linebackers (the Cougars were second in the WAC in defense against the rush), and we have real striking power with our passing game.

"If there is one position on offense that has us concerned, it is at fullback. We lost a great twosome in Steve Stratton and Wayne Bower, and you will note the running backs listed on our three-deep are all sophomores. Also, none of our offensive starters of last year in the interior line is returning."

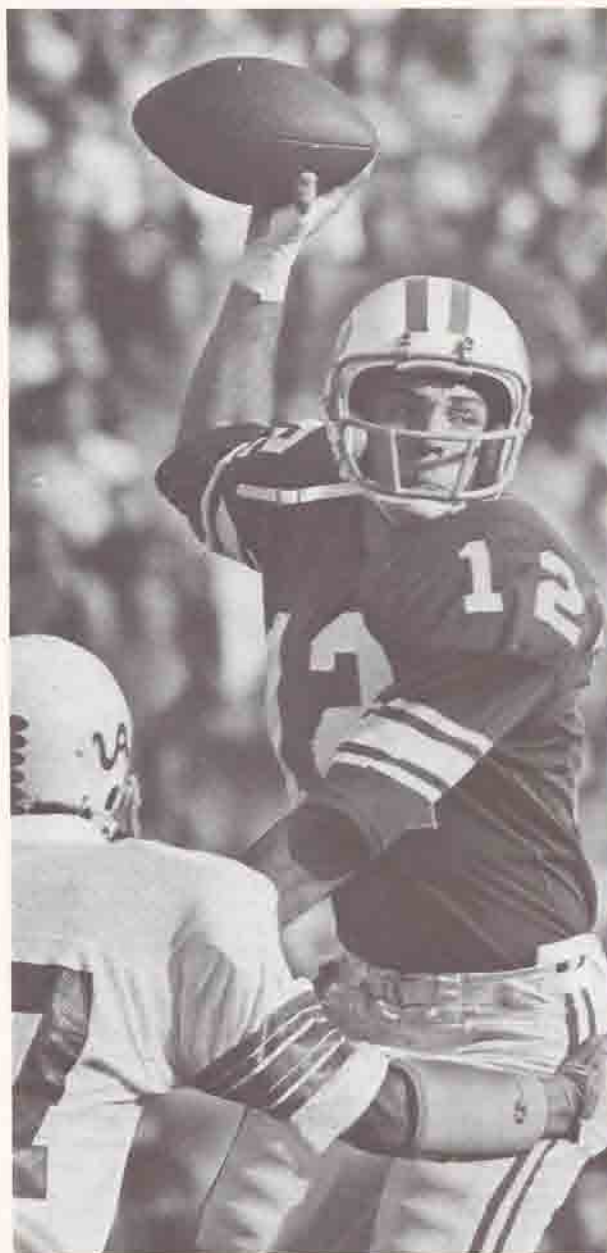

League Outlook: "On the strength of players returning and overall quality, I would have to go with Arizona as the favorite. Arizona State, although missing some of its great talent of last year, has to be rated among the chief contenders. New Mexico and Wyoming will be improved, and thereafter it should be a real scramble."

Formations: We don't plan any major changes in our formations this year, and will stick with the pro set and I-formation on offense with a basic 4-3 on defense.

Returning Lettermen: Of the 49 players who lettered on last year's squad, a total of 26 are returning. Of the 22 starters on offense and defense, ten will be back in the fold, seven of them on the defensive unit. Obviously, from this report the Cougars will have to do most of their spade work with the offense, where none of the starters from the interior line are returning. This could become the critical area for the season ahead.

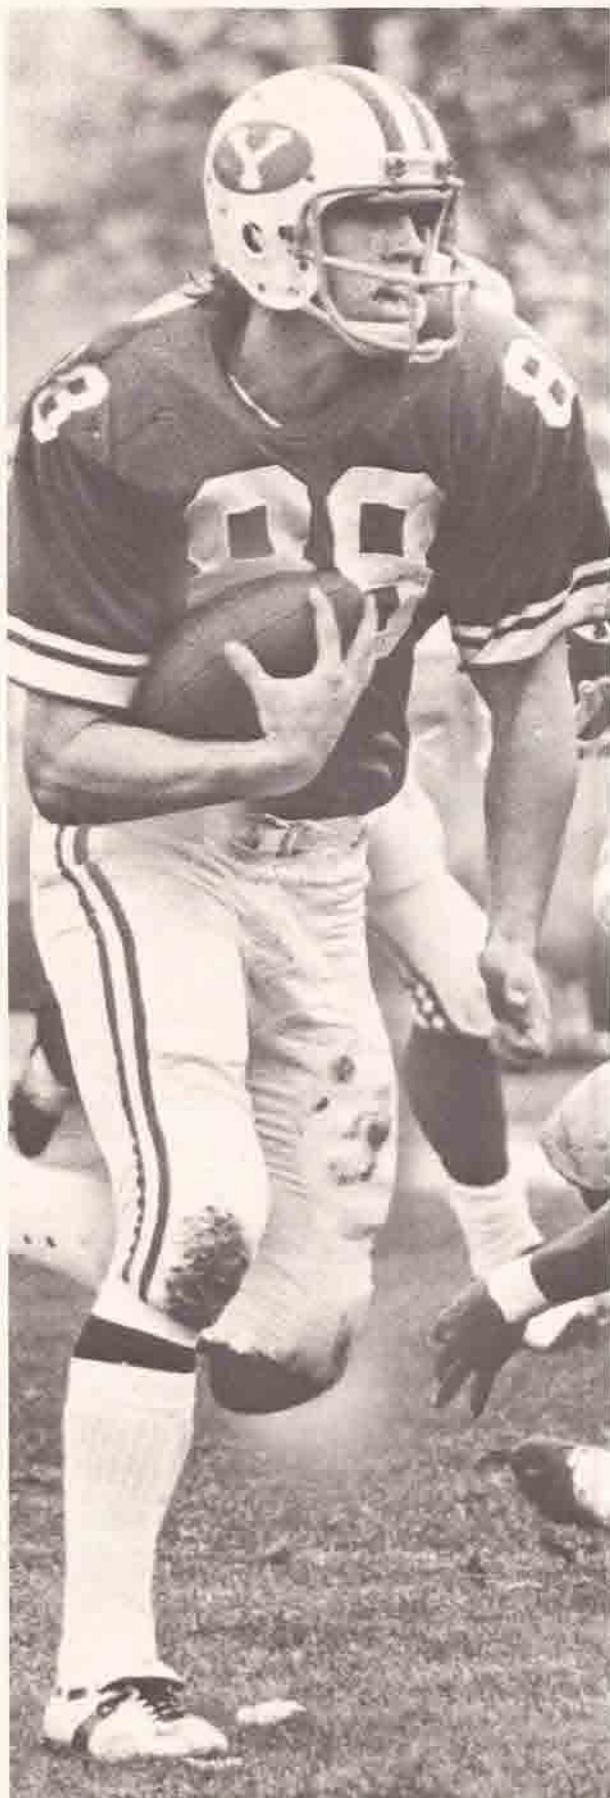

Major Losses: Among the 23 departing lettermen were 12 three-year lettermen, five of whom were offensive linemen. The fullback spot was hurt the most with the graduation of Steve Stratton and Wayne Bower, a great one-two punch in that position over a three-year period. Also among the missing are two players, Lynn Zwahlen (FL) and Lance Reynolds (OG), who have accepted church mission calls. Running back Dan Taylor, an academic all-American, passed up his final year to enter medical school.

Running Game: The Cougars were not among the WAC leaders in rushing last season, netting only 3.6 yards per play. But several freshmen of last fall were able to log a good deal of playing time that will help BYU's running game in 1974. Two freshmen of '73 who lettered at tailback, Jeff Blanc (301 yards and 4.9 per carry) and Mark Terranova (leading BYU rusher with 414 and 4.3 yards per carry) will return with a little more experience. But will it be enough to carry the tailback chores for the season? If help is needed, it may come from the freshman ranks again. At this writing, it appears the fullback chores will fall to a pair of sophomore redshirts from Salt Lake City, Jim Gunnell and Mark Liedtke, neither of whom has any recorded time in a varsity game. But the two, like sophomore reserve Jim Goodenberger, have the potential and promise. In summary, the running game is uncertain with a total of six sophomores heading the list of rushing candidates.

Passing Game: Hold onto your hats! With the number two passer in the nation (quarterback Gary Sheide) and the number one receiver in the nation (split end Jay Miller) returning, the Cougars could have the finest passing combination in college ball this fall. While the Cougars have had some great passers (Virgil Carter, for one), Sheide seems to be the best of all, completing .602 per cent last fall. Moreover, Gary calls a good game and has all the qualities of an All-American player. Miller, of course, will be Sheide's main target, but there are several other receivers who can also catch the ball; senior flanker John Betham, sophomore split end Craig Van Leeuwen, and some of the backs. Here again, there may be some fine receivers among the incoming frosh who will add to the varsity catching corps. Behind Sheide are reserves Mark Giles, a junior, and sophomore Gifford Nielsen. Nielsen has a fine passing arm and is a prime candidate for future seasons. Last year the Cougars averaged 266.4 yards per game through the air. It could be higher this year.

Kicking Game: This was not a strong point in the Cougar game last year, but the outlook is improved this fall. Quarterback Mark Giles, who handled all the punting last season (39.4 yards on 58 kicks) is back, as is sophomore place-kicker Dev Duke, who led the team in scoring last fall with 53 points. Duke hit 29 of 36 field goal attempts, and hit several long-range field goals. Help may be on the way, too, from newcomers.

Defense: With a returning letterman starting in every position, BYU's defense will be a real strength. Anchored by two-time all-Western Athletic Conference defensive tackle Paul Linford, the front four will be composed of Wayne Baker (6-6, 266) at the other tackle; two-year Keith Rivera at one end and junior Stan Varner (6-4, 235) at the other flank. Backing up the line are veterans Larry "Otto" Carr, Doug Adams and Phil Jensen, all of whom are two-year lettermen. Having weathered a gruelling '73 campaign, the young defensive secondary will be more experienced and a little deeper this time around. Only all-WAC cornerback Dave Atkinson will be missing from the defensive backfield of last year. Overall, the defense should be the Cougars' forte this fall.

Offense: Last fall the Cougars were second only to Arizona State in team offense in the WAC. But it was the passing game that kept them in that kind of company, for the most part. The team's potential soft spot, the offensive line, might make it a little more difficult for the Cougars to move consistently on the ground. Should the younger players continue to improve, however, the 50-50 balance that Edwards would like to have in his attack, may materialize.

FRESHMEN: Rather unexpectedly, the Cougars were able to draw from a good reserve of freshmen talent last fall. It could be the same this year, since a number of fine ball players will be reporting in August. The group includes Larry Kemp, a running back from Pocatello; Mekeli Ieremia, a defensive lineman from Western Samoa; Pisa Finai, a receiver from Laie, Hawaii; and a kicking specialist from Ricks College, Mark Uselman, to mention a few.

SUMMARY: There's no way of hiding the Cougars' optimism for this fall. While it may not be a championship year, the '74 club should be among the chief contenders. A first division finish looks like an accurate pick at this point.

KID FROM CONCORD AIMS 'EM HIGH

Gary Sheide knows there are worse things than being compared to the Jets' Joe Namath. There is a likeness on the playing field. Both wear number 12, both have a tendency to slouch a little, both have learned how to live with injuries, and more importantly, both know how to rifle the football to receivers.

Nobody knows how the Jet star would have fared in sports other than football, but in Sheide's case it could have been baseball, or perhaps basketball.

A product of Little League ball, Sheide's athletic pursuits were well advanced by the time he reached high school. At Antioch High he was all-league in three sports, he hit .436 as shortstop in baseball, averaged 22 points a game in basketball, and had a 60% passing completion as a quarterback.

At that point Gary could have named his sport and his school. When he enrolled at nearby Diablo Junior College, his intent was to concentrate on baseball. But a string of injuries hit Diablo's quarterback candidates, and the coaching staff appealed to the Antioch freshman for help. But the bad breaks continued as Sheide broke a bone in his hand early in his freshman season.

As a sophomore he remained undaunted, but this time broke a bone in his other hand. As a result, he saw little action in junior college (perhaps a half dozen games or more in two seasons). It was at this point that Coach Edwards and the Cougars were fortunate to land Sheide as a transfer.

For a while it looked like Sheide's first season with the Cougars was going to be a repeat. He was injured prior to the start of the season and had to watch the opener from the bench; something more painful than his injury, since the Cougars were handed a stunning upset by Colorado State, 21-13.

In the Cougars' second game (Oregon State), Gary got in the game long enough to run one play

... a 68-yard TD throw to Sam LoBue.

The following week in Logan, Sheide came off the bench to engineer a drive that might have won the ball game against Utah State had not the clock run out with the Cougars on the four-yard line.

So, in the first three games of the season, Gary, for all intents and purposes, tried only 11 passes (seven of them were caught). But he finished the season as the number two passer in the nation (behind San Diego State's Jesse Freitas) and third in NCAA total offense (behind Freitas and ASU's Danny White).

The Cougars ended up as the runner-up in NCAA passing statistics and eighth in the nation in total offense.

Gary wrapped up a bundle of WAC and school records, one of the most impressive being the .602 completion percentage for the season.

Obviously, Gary does a lot of things well. He has a natural throwing arm, is a gifted signal-caller, can read defenses well, and can inspire confidence among his teammates.

Sheide is also a music buff, and plays the sax, piano and organ.

SHEIDE, GARY, (12), Quarterback, 6-2, 195, Senior, Concord, Calif.—From obscurity to national ranking in eight games ... a reserve QB, Gary suffered an injury before season started ... came back slowly ... threw only one pass in first two games (Oregon State), but it was good for 68 yards and a TD (wide receiver Sam LoBue) ... passed for 439 yards against Iowa State ... best game of last year was against New Mexico (completed 32 of 50 attempts for 408 yards and six touchdowns) ... finished the season as the number two passer in the nation (17.7 completions) and was third in U.S. in total offense (234.3 yards per game) ... was behind Jesse Freitas (San Diego State) and Danny White (Arizona State) in total offense, just Freitas in passing ... set new WAC record in completion percentage (.602 for the season) ... set league record in completed passes (32) and TD passes (6) for one game (New Mexico) ... judged by many as having the finest passing arm in school's history ... Diablo Junior College in California ... but born 11/6/52 ... played two years at career there slowed considerably by injuries ... fortunately for BYU, Gary decided to come to join the Cougars ... brother Greg also attending BYU ... at Antioch he was an all-league basketball player (22 points per game) and led the area in scoring ... he hit .436 as shortstop with the baseball team ... had a 60% completion percentage in football ... team won football and baseball championships ... quarterback for Antioch High in 1969-70 ... single ... P.E. major.

WHAT MAKES THE JAYBIRD FLY?

"... I know if I keep trying to get open, Gary will get the ball to me."

What is it that makes BYU's Jay Miller the nation's number one pass receiver?

It's not size—Miller is barely six feet tall.

It's not good health—Miller played much of last season—when he caught over 100 passes and claimed a record 22 in one game—with a broken toe and recurring heel problems.

It's not speed—he isn't the fastest man on the team; not even the fastest receiver.

It's not experience—Miller led the nation in pass receptions as an 18-year-old sophomore who didn't turn 19 until the season was over.

What is it, then, that makes the San Jose native so successful? Maybe Jay has the best answer.

"I keep in mind," he says, "that no matter how good a defender is supposed to be, there is always a weakness somewhere. And I can usually block everything out of my mind except catching the ball. I forget about the noise of the crowd, everything, and concentrate on the ball."

Some might call it dedication or desire. Others might refer to it as guts.

Whatever it is, it was played to perfection one cold day last November at Provo in a home game against New Mexico. Miller must have done a lot of concentrating because he caught more passes in one game—a total of 22—than any player in the history of college football. The feat earned Jay Preston Miller a flood of honors nationally, and helped power him to first place in the NCAA final statistics.

While he was grateful for the honors, he was quick to recognize key ingredients to his success—a very accurate quarterback in Gary Sheide, and some outstanding blocking from an unheralded offensive line and teammates.

"Some quarterbacks can only see one receiver. But Gary Sheide is able to watch all the receivers. I know if I keep trying to get open, he will get the ball to me."

"If he were throwing to Johnny Betham or any other receiver," he added, "they would be leading the nation. We have some great receivers."

Jay's dedication as a receiver spills over into his summer work. Although he credits running good patterns and quick feet for some of his success, he should mention hard work. He spent the summer loading steel, and gained 10 pounds in the process. He also ran three miles a day, holding a football in order to get used to its feel.

Miller also rests some credit with Phil Odle, former Cougar great who still ranks among the top three receivers (career wise) in NCAA history. Odle, now retired from the Detroit Lions, held the BYU season record of 77 catches until Jay broke it (also during the UNM game) last fall.

"I used to think I knew all there was to know about running patterns," says Jay, "Then Phil set me straight. He told me a lot of the do's and don't's."

With a measure of success already established, and two years of varsity ball ahead of him, one would believe the best is yet to come.—Mike Twitty

PAUL LINFORD

PASS RUSH IS PART OF HIS LIFE STYLE

"Old 74" sounds like the name of a train. If it comes disguised in a BYU football uniform, you'd better believe it is.

That happens to be the number of the uniform worn by defensive tackle Paul Linford, the Cougar standout, who has played a major role in the nightmares of many an opposing back, especially those on the bumpy end of Linford's pass rush.

If all goes well this season, Linford may achieve a singular success—a three-time all-conference selection. Paul won first-team honors on the official WAC selections as a sophomore and junior.

As one might expect, Linford has figured high in the defensive statistics in the two preceding seasons. Last fall he led the defensive unit in "hurries" (forcing the pass under pressure), with a total of ten more than the next highest pass rusher.

Like most players, Paul has experienced some games that were better than others. Two years ago in the game with Texas-El Paso, Paul had an excellent day. He played a major role in the Cougars' 21-14 homecoming victory. Later that year he was nominated for WAC Lineman of the Week because of his strong showing against Arizona.

Last fall, when the Cougars were second only to Arizona State in overall defense, Paul accounted for 44 unassisted tackles, 35 assists, five tackles for a loss, had two fumble recoveries and one pass interception.

Says Edwards of Linford: "I have never had a lineman develop and play as well as Paul has. He is a great football player with a combination of speed, strength and intelligence."

One of several outstanding football players to come out of Granite High School in Salt Lake City, Paul was ready to step into the college game as a sophomore in college.

Besides winning all-conference honors his first year, Paul was named Sophomore Lineman of the Year in the Western Athletic Conference.

ORRIN OLSEN

THE ALL-AROUNDER SETTLES AT CENTER

Rumor has it that Orrin Olsen uses 28 hours of his day instead of the usual 24. It's the only way to account for what he is able to accomplish.

In addition to being the Cougars' starting center, the big junior maintains a 3.7 average in business management, throws the discus for the BYU track team, stays active in a variety of hobbies (woodcarving, fishing and hunting), and sings in the Mormon Tabernacle Choir.

And Orrin, who was the Cougar Club Memorial Scholar Athlete for 1974-75, has added another interest—a BYU coed named Sandy Robison, daughter of BYU track coach Clarence Robison. The two are planning a post-season marriage in late November or early December.

What motivates Orrin in so many fields?

Undoubtedly, some of it is due to his strong family background. The youngest of nine children of Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Olsen, Orrin belongs to a clan that knows how to succeed. Two older brothers, Merlin and Phil, now play professional ball with the L.A. Rams, and all the Olsen sons and daughters have attended college.

While Phil and Merlin have been a source of inspiration to him, Orrin feels individual differences make it important for every player to find and develop his own style.

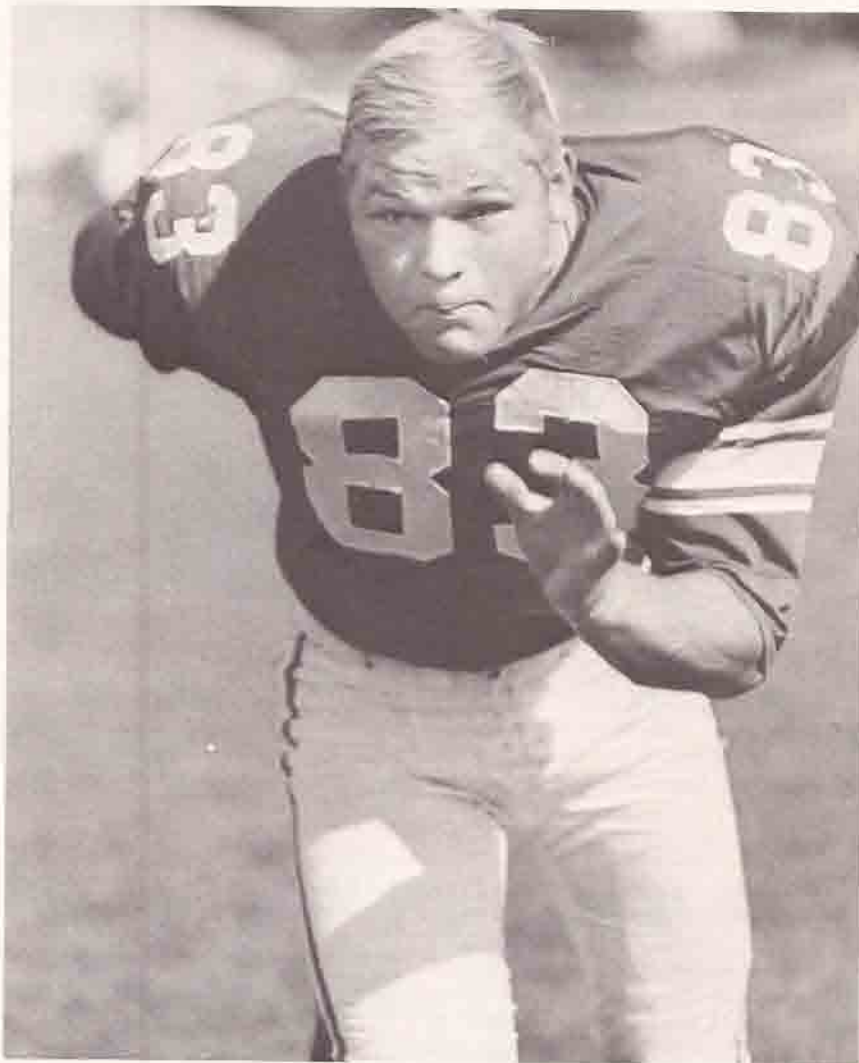

"I watch Phil and Merlin on television, but I don't try to copy them. No two people are alike in quickness, reaction and strength, so each has to establish his own style."

Orrin has established his own philosophy about success, too.

"There are times you win, times you lose. You just learn that winning is such a greater feeling."

The 6-3, 236-pound Utah native is excited about being back on the field in a new position after missing the '73 season, or most of it. Orrin suffered a broken thumb in the first game of the season and was later granted a manifest hardship by the WAC.

In his first year with the Cougars (1972) he was a sophomore defensive end and received honorable mention among the all-WAC choices that season. And due to the fact that he has plenty of ability and desire, he has played several other positions as well, both offensive and defensive.

At center now, Orrin feels he has found his position.

"Really, I feel more confident at center than at any other position, but I know I have a lot to learn. As I get more experience, I feel it will be a pleasure, and a challenge, to play there."

"There's no feeling greater than coming out on top, knowing you won fairly because you've prepared yourself." —Barbara Evans

LARRY CARR

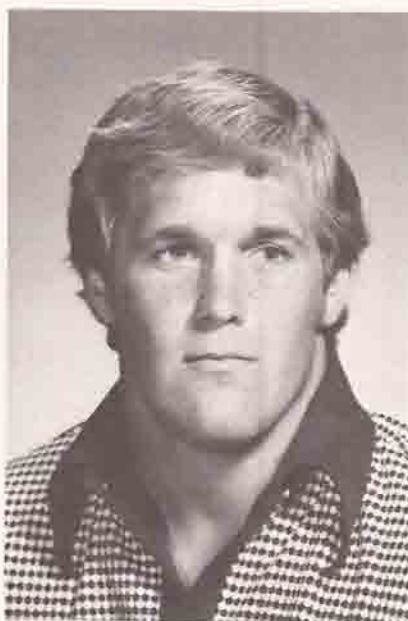

HOW 'OTTO' DOES IT WITH DIET

It's feast or famine for Larry "Otto" Carr on the day of a game. And judging from the way the Cougars' middle linebacker plays on the field, it's mostly feast.

"I eat little or nothing on the day of a game," says the 6-0, 230-pound senior from Canoga Park, Calif. "My experience has been that I play better on the field—am hungrier, so to speak—if I pass up the pre-game meal, then have a real meal after it's all over."

Larry's formula has paid dividends; at least for him. He led the team in defensive statistics last year as a junior, and was runner-up as a sophomore the year before. In fact, there wasn't a player on the squad that was within 40 points of Otto at the end of the year. He had a total of 66 unassisted tackles and three pass interceptions, to mention only two categories.

"He's one of those gifted players who can smell the play almost before it happens," says linebacker coach Fred Whittingham. "When Larry's in there I am confident he will be on top of the action. The game films and statistics substantiate this."

Carr does read the plays well, especially the run. In two seasons with the Cougars he has had a total of 156 unassisted tackles, which is a pretty good indication he's not the least bit timid about sticking his nose into the opposition's offense.

For all his ability on the playing field, and there are few who can challenge him at his game, Larry may have a weakness—he's a bit superstitious. He likes a feeling of sameness on the day of a game. Things like wearing the same clothing to the game each week, etc.

Doesn't seem to make any difference to the coaching staff, however. No pre-game meal, big post-game meal, sameness in numbers and clothing, Carr gets the job done.

*CARR, LARRY (67), Linebacker, 6-0, 230, Senior, Canoga Park, California—What more can you say about Otto, the hard-nosed middle linebacker who was second in defensive stats as a sophomore, and led the team (by a good margin) as a junior. . . . BYU led the WAC in defensive scoring a year ago, was second in team defense and defense against the rush in '73. . . . was in on 106 tackles (assisted and unassisted) last fall and deflected seven passes. . . . very strong candidate for all-WAC honors. . . . was outstanding baseball player at Canoga Park. . . . played center on the football team. . . . born 1/24/52. . . . P.E. major. . . . married to former Laurie Isaacman, and they have a year-old son.

WAYNE BAKER

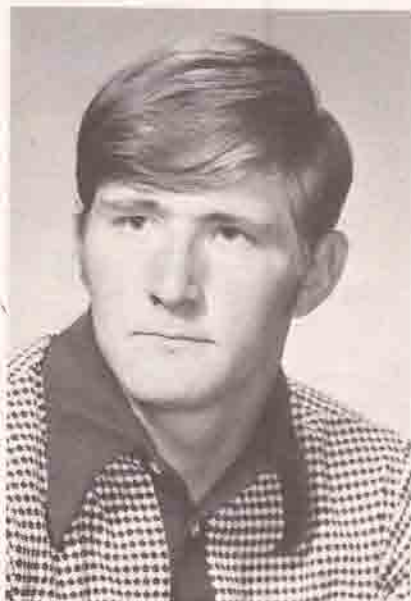

PAUL BUNYON WOULD HAVE LIKED HIM

The first time LaVell Edwards laid eyes on big Wayne Baker was when the big kid from Montana's lumber country showed up for freshman ball three years ago. No films, no minute scouting reports, no personal visits; just a phone call and a hunch.

Edwards doesn't claim to be a gambling man, but he took a chance on Baker, who played eight-man football in high school and is now a 6-6, 268-pound starting defensive tackle on the Cougars' defensive unit.

On a tip from Jerry Saffell, former Wyoming star who is now coaching in Montana, Edwards tried to place a call to Baker. But the Bakers didn't have a phone at the time, and Wayne returned the call on a neighbor's phone. The grant was issued and accepted then and there.

"It was really a dream come true when I got a chance to play football for BYU," recalls Wayne. "And I really felt fortunate that they would take a chance on me with no film; it made me all the more determined to do well."

And do well he has. Baker, whose dad is a lumberjack with whom Wayne works during the summer, will likely win three varsity letters with the Cougars. With his dimensions and strength, he might move into the pro game.

"He has good speed and quickness for his size," says Edwards. "But his best asset is unbelievable strength. He's a real tough athlete, the result in part of honest-to-goodness labor."

Edwards' luck may be holding. Wayne has three younger brothers at home: Keith, a 6-4 offensive tackle and linebacker; Russell, who may be as big as Wayne; and David, a sixth grader who, in Wayne's words, "is already a monster. . . . he could be the biggest of all."

*BAKER, WAYNE (72), Defensive Tackle, 6-6, 267, Senior, Plains, Montana—A product of eight-man football, Baker came to BYU from Plains Public High School a comparative unknown. . . . he has had two good seasons, logging a lot of playing time. . . . very big and strong. . . . at Plains he played four years of football. . . . as tight end, middle guard and offensive tackle. . . . was all-state in football and basketball. . . . averaged 21 points per game in basketball. . . . played in East-West Shrine game. . . . was student of the year at Plains. . . . comes from family of athletes. . . . his father is a logger. . . . born 7/7/53 in Sandpoint, Idaho. . . . single.

Somewhere on the college football scene there has to be room for the aerial tandem of Sheide & Miller.

True, the Mr. Pass and Mr. Catch combination wouldn't be where it is today without a large supporting cast of coaches and teammates. But this twosome does lend a star quality that may deserve a little more attention.

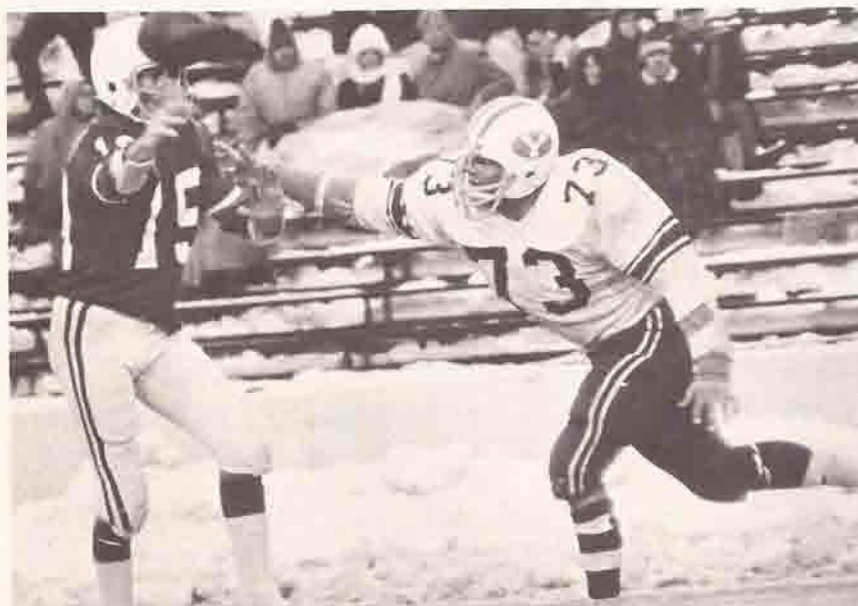

It took a little while to the the act together. But it was worth waiting for. It had to be one of those rare happenings — landing the school's most accurate and prolific passer at the same time the school's finest young receiver was suiting up for the Cougars.

Transfer Gary Sheide threw only one pass in the Cougars' first two games of last season, but he set records before the season was over. His .602 completion percentage far surpassed anything listed in BYU's record books. And who would expect the young sophomore from San Jose would catch 22 passes in one game and end up with 100 for the season?

While it may be too early to serve up this kind of praise, we hope this isn't the case. But the record, as the politicians say, speaks for itself.

KEITH RIVERA

DEFENSIVE END PROVES AGGRESSIVE

In the minds of most BYU football fans, defensive end Keith Rivera played the best game of his career in the season finale last year in Salt Lake City. Unfortunately for Rivera, he was forced to watch some of his best game from the bench.

The broad shouldered senior from Las Vegas played a superb defensive game during most of the contest at Rice Stadium. And it might have been even better had he not been ejected from the snowy field following a penalty late in the fourth quarter.

From then on, the most Keith could do was cheer from the sidelines.

Rivera haunted the Ute offenders all afternoon, making six unassisted tackles, assisting on two more, and recovering one fumble that set up the Cougars' second touchdown.

On the strength of his performance in the Utah game, fans are hoping the veteran flanker will be able to pick up where he left off at the tag end of 1973.

*RIVERA, KEITH (73), Defensive End, 6-2, 229, Senior, Las Vegas, Nevada—Plagued by injuries through most of his varsity career, Keith really came on during the latter part of the '73 season . . . best game came against Utah in snow storm in Salt Lake City . . . has played linebacker as well as defensive end . . . at Las Vegas High School he was a fullback and middle guard . . . he won all-state honors . . . injury forced him to redshirt between sophomore and junior years . . . single.

HEAD COACH: Earle Bruce (Ohio State '49) second season at Iowa
 1973 RECORD, CONFERENCE FINISH: 4-7 (seventh place in Big Eight) 2-5

1973 VICTORIES: Idaho (48-0), Brigham Young (26-24), Missouri (17-7), Oklahoma State (28-12)

1973 LOSSES: Arkansas (19-21), Colorado (16-23), Kansas State (19-21), Kansas (20-22), Oklahoma (17-34), Nebraska (7-31), San Diego State (28-41)

SERIES RECORD: The Cyclones are undefeated in the three-game series with the Cougars, including last year's 26-24 heart-stopper at Provo. Iowa State also took a 28-20 decision in Provo in 1968 and a 10-0 contest in Ames in 1969. Cougars are looking for first win.

SEASON OUTLOOK: The Cyclones, after losing four games last year by narrow margins (one by a TD, three others by two points) will have experience (29 lettermen) and depth going for them this fall. All-America candidate Mike Strachan has over 2,300 yards rushing as a sophomore and junior, and was Big Eight's sophomore of the year. Running game should be the Cyclones' strong suit this fall.

1973 VICTORIES: Brigham Young (21-13), New Mexico State (31-27), Idaho (33-30), Texas-El Paso (76-24), Toledo (21-14)

1973 LOSSES: Arizona (0-31), Arizona State (14-67), Utah State (18-34), Wyoming (3-35), Houston (20-28), New Mexico (13-30)

SERIES RECORD: Last year's stunning upset in Provo moved the Rams into a commanding 21-13-2 edge in the series with BYU. Prior to last year's game, Colorado State had lost four of the previous five games. Series started in 1926.

SEASON OUTLOOK: Only 24 lettermen returning from last year's 5-6 team, but Sark believes good prospects will be found among 14 redshirts, 10 transfers and about 50 freshman prospects. Outstanding player in receiving corps is Willie Miller, who holds every CSU receiving record. "We have a lot of holes to fill," says Arslanian, "but we had an excellent recruiting year."

1973 LOSSES: Arizona (7-21), Wisconsin (28-37), Utah (16-50), Utah State (20-31), Arizona State (0-47), New Mexico (21-23), Houston, (0-35)

SERIES RECORD: Wyoming holds a long string of wins against BYU and made it a little longer with a 41-21 victory over BYU last year. The series is now 24-16-3. Wyoming has given up only five games in the series since World War II.

SEASON OUTLOOK: Coach Fritz Shurmur with a basically young team has made some major changes in the Pokes' offense and defense. Shurmur and staff will be placing more emphasis on the running game and the play-action pass, departing from the option-oriented attack of the past. The three-linebacker alignment of the past has been scrapped in favor of the familiar "Okie" set of five down linemen and two linebackers which Wyoming used to become the best defensive team in the nation during the decade of the 60s.

SERIES RECORD: Shutouts seem to be the rule and not the exception with these two schools. In the past four years there have been three shutouts recorded, BYU having the edge 2-1. As a series BYU also holds a slight edge 6-5-1, thanks to the 63-0 win last season.

SEASON OUTLOOK: The phrase "cautious optimism" has been coined by the UTEP mentors as the outlook for this season. Even though the Miners return 30 lettermen from last year's squad, new head coach Gil Bartosh feels he'll have to shore up some weak areas with the 30 newcomers coming to camp this fall. Players to watch are LaFreddie Coleman, All-WAC safety, Bronko Belichesky, and running backs Don Willis and Ken Petty who averaged five and three yards a carry last season.

SEASON OUTLOOK: This could be the year that a team other than ASU wins the WAC championship and a berth in the Fiesta Bowl.
But don't count on it. The Sun Devils will be a very young team with the losses of key personnel. It will take a lot of rebuilding with critical positions open to the newcomers. Outstanding player

GREAT, ONCE THEY GOT CLICKING

Last fall's campaign can be summed up best as the agony and the ecstasy.

After receiving a good rating in the pre-season polls, the Cougars were upset in their '73 opener, 21-13, by Colorado State at Provo. They bounced back to beat Oregon State (37-14), then saw the clock run out during a TD drive while on the four-yard line at Utah State. Against Iowa State what would have been a game-winning TD was nullified by a penalty, and a close-in field goal attempt went wide. Losses to Arizona State and Wyoming on the road followed.

So much for the agony.

By mid-season the Cougars had reversed things and were ready to roll. They won four of their last five games, and averaged 44 points per game in that stretch. The victories included a 56-21 win over New Mexico, 45-14 decision over Weber State, 46-22 romp over rival Utah, and 63-0 blanking over Texas-El Paso.

As a result, the Cougars finished the season with an overall record of 5-6, and tied for fourth place in the WAC with a 3-4 mark.

In terms of excitement, the '73 season would be hard to match. Offensively, the Cougars were eighth in the nation in total offense and second in the nation in passing.

Individually, the Cougars had the best aerial act in college football. Quarterback Gary Sheide, who threw only one pass in BYU's first two games, finished the season in second place in NCAA passing. Gary's main target, sophomore split end Jay Miller, led the nation, by a huge margin, in pass receptions. Jay's 22 receptions in the win over New Mexico was a new NCAA record for one game. Sheide, who proved to be the finest passer in BYU history, completed .602 of his attempts.

An indication of BYU balance: the Cougars were second only to Arizona State in both team defense and team offense in the WAC.

Sept. 15 - Colorado State 21, BYU 13 at Provo (0-1)—Perfect conditions for night game (72°), clear, 28,255 attendance . . . stunning upset of the heavily-favored Cougars . . . both teams scoreless in the first half, and tied 7-7 at end of third quarter . . . Rams set up TD on a flea-flicker in the fourth period . . . pass interception by Greg Battle, and five plays later, with 2:03 remaining, CSU scored final TD . . . Cougars were flat, Rams high . . . Duke kicked two field goals (25 and 32) for Cougars . . . injured Sheide on the bench.

Sept. 29 - BYU 37, Oregon State 14 at Provo (1-1)—Night game (67°), crowd of 24,434 . . . After a bye in the schedule, the Cougars scored in every quarter with sophomores Randy Litchfield (QB) and Gil Gillenwater (TB) starring . . . Litchfield passed for one TD and 171 yards, while Gillenwater, who was named WAC Back of the week for his efforts, rushed for 127 yards and two TDs . . . Cougar defensive line limited striking Beavers to 53 yards rushing . . . BYU led 21-14 at half . . . Gillenwater held 119 yards at half . . . freshman Mark Terranova took over running in the second half.

Oct. 6 - Utah State 13, BYU 7 at Logan (1-2)—Afternoon game, cloudy and windy (68°), 15,486 (new Romney Stadium record)—Aggies in control most of the way until Cougars, behind the passing of Gary Sheide, launched desperation drive with 1:08 left in the game . . . clock ran out with the Cougars in possession on the four-yard line . . . Sheide completed five passes on the drive . . . one pass went to Lynn Zwahlen in end zone, but he fell out of bounds . . . Archie Gibson rushed for 135 yards, and Al Knapp kicked two field goals . . . freshman Mark Terranova scored BYU's only TD, a 20-yard jaunt to tie score 7-7 in second quarter . . . Ags had only 218 yards total offense, 66 less than Cougars.

Oct. 13 - Iowa State 26, BYU 24 at Provo (1-3)—Afternoon, clear (64°), 25,580 fans watched another heart-breaker . . . Cougars trailed 23-7 midway through the third quarter before exploding in late stages of the game . . . a Sheide-to-Miller pass good for 37 yards and TD put Cats within striking distance, 24-27 . . . Cougars recover an on-side kick on ISU 45-yard line . . . holding penalty nullifies TD pass from Sheide to Pistorius . . . last-second 30-yard field goal attempt by Dev Duke goes wide . . . Cougars had 511 yards total offense to ISU's 318, but errors and penalties hurt BYU . . . Sheide had 439 yards passing.

Oct. 20 - Arizona State 52, BYU 12 at Tempe (1-4)—Afternoon game switched to accommodate NCAA regional game of the week, 1:50 p.m. Kickoff (95°), 47,137—Bad afternoon for the Cats as Danny White and Woody Green dominated offensive display that had ASU ahead 29-0 at half . . . Sun Devils just couldn't be stopped as they accumulated 652 yards total offense . . . White completed 20 of 34 passes and set three school records . . . Green ran for 128 yards on 17 carries, caught two touchdown passes.

Oct. 27 - Wyoming 41, BYU 21 at Laramie (1-5)—Afternoon game, 20 mph wind, clear (48°), 18,746—Cougars, still in a nose-dive, couldn't get on the scoreboard until final quarter when they scored all their points . . . Sheide passed for two touchdowns, rushed for another for BYU tallies . . . Cowboys limited runners to 103 yards on 48 attempts . . . oddly enough the Cougars had more total yardage (449-411) . . . QB Steve Cockreham completed 14 of 26 for 227 yards and three TDs . . . Archie Gray caught six for 112 yards . . . Sheide passed for two touchdowns and 310 yards.

Nov. 3 - BYU 56, New Mexico 21 at Provo (2-5)—Afternoon game, overcast and cool (36°), 11,142—Despite cold weather, the Cougars exploded with an aerial game that wouldn't quit . . . mostly Gary Sheide to Jay Miller passes that produced a new NCAA record for Miller (22 receptions in one game) . . . Sheide threw a total of six TD passes and completed 32 out of 50 attempts, and scored another TD on a run . . . BYU had a 33-7 lead at half . . . Cougar offense line provided excellent protection . . . Mike Russell intercepted three passes for BYU . . . Cougars went to the air a total of 58 times . . . Lobos' final score, a Williams to Labarre pass, came just as the game ended.

Nov. 10 - Arizona 24, BYU 10 at Provo (2-6)—Afternoon game, clear and warm (69°), 19,597 in attendance—Although the Cougars had the ball most of the afternoon (95 to 59 plays), the Wildcats came up with the points . . . score was tied 10-10 at the half . . . three key plays, two of them identical draw plays good for 80-yard touchdowns, turned the trick for Arizona . . . the third was a pass interception good for 38 yards and a score . . . that's all it took . . . Sheide suffered some cracked ribs . . . Litchfield threw 20 passes in a reserve role.

Nov. 17 - Brigham Young 45, Weber State 14 at Provo (3-6)—Afternoon game, clear (53°), 14,548—This first-ever game with Weber State was dominated by the Cougars . . . Wildcats were not at full strength, since four players were dropped from squad days before the game . . . Sheide, despite painful ribs, directed the attack, completing 20 of 33 passes for 244 and four touchdowns . . . Miller caught 10 for 155 and three TDs . . . score was 24-6 at halftime . . . Dev Duke kicked a 42-yard field goal in second quarter . . . Grant-to-Childress pass good for 42 yards was Weber's only score in first half.

Nov. 24 - Brigham Young 46, Utah 22 at Salt Lake City (4-6)—Afternoon game, snowing (through most of the game) and cold, 18,243—Poor conditions for a football game, but the Cougars played like it was a spring day, upsetting the favored Utes for the second year in a row . . . midway through the third quarter the Cougars were ahead 46-3 . . . Utes bounced back to score three straight touchdowns, all on passes . . . Sheide connected on 23 of 35 attempts for 354 yards and four TDs . . . Cougars had 599 yards total offense . . . freshman Jeff Blanc carried 22 times for 87 yards and two scores . . . Mike Pistorius had eight receptions for 110 yards.

Dec. 1 - Brigham Young 63, Texas-El Paso 0 at El Paso (5-6)—Cougars finish the year with explosive showing over winless UTEP . . . a sparse 6,145 watched the Miners give up 63 points, 541 yards total offense . . . BYU scored in every quarter . . . Sheide had 218 yards passing on 17-for-28 completions . . . Steve Stratton and Jeff Blanc combined for 169 yards rushing between them . . . Miners completed only three of 15 attempts, and had six interceptions . . . Giles averaged 43.9 yards per punt.

HISTORICAL

GROWING GROUP OF LATTER-DAY STARS

Although football—or what was known as football—was played at the Academy around the turn of the century, it was not recognized as an intercollegiate sport until 1922. It had been played on campus prior to the 1900s but was discontinued because of a player fatality.

In the 48 seasons it has been on campus since its resumption in 1922, the Cougars have had a total of 11 head coaches and played over 400 games (no official competition during World War II). The Cougars haven't had any undefeated seasons, but Ott Romney had an 8-1 season (1932), and Tom Hudspeth logged an 8-2 record in 1966. Nor have the Cougars played in any post-season bowl games.

However, several of BYU's players have received national recognition of one kind or another, and many are listed in the national record books.

Those of recent vintage include Eldon "The Phantom" Forte (whose number 40 jersey has been retired) who was named to several All-America selections in 1962. Forte, a single-wing tailback, was among the national leaders in total offense for that year.

More recently, quarterback Virgil Carter (1964-66) won a host of honors as an outstanding player from BYU. During his tenure with the Cougars, Carter set three major offensive records. One of those NCAA marks—most yards rushing and passing in one game (599 against UTEP)—still stands. In all, Virgil accounted for 6,354 yards total offensive and was responsible for a total of 68 touchdowns in his three-year career with the Cougars. Carter was also named to the Academic All-America selection for two seasons.

One of Carter's favorite targets was Phil Odle (1965-67), who ranks among the top receivers in college ball in receptions, receiving yardage and touchdown catches. Phil ended his career with a total of 181 receptions for 2,548 yards and 25 touchdowns.

Chris Farasopoulos (1968-70), the Galloping Greek from BYU, led the nation in punt returns and set two NCAA kick-return records in 1969. Kick-returns were also the specialty of Golden Richards (1970-71) who also led the nation in punt returns (1971). Richards is still listed with three existing NCAA kick-return records.

Two years ago Fleet Pete VanValkenburg (1970-72) was the nation's leading rusher, setting several WAC and school records in the process. Pete was named to second and third team All-America selections and played in three post-season games.

Linemen of special note in recent seasons include defensive end Jeff Slipp (1969), offensive guard Gordon Gravelle (1970), and offensive lineman Paul Howard (1972).

The Cougars can claim only one Western Athletic Conference football championship, a title won in 1965 under Tom Hudspeth.

Welcome to Brigham Young University via the 1974 BYU Football Press Guide. We hope that it will supply you with most of the basic information needed to cover the Cougars this season, but if added information or photos are desired, please contact us.

Press box tickets for all home games will be limited to working members of the press, radio, television, visiting information directors, and college scouts.

Press passes will be issued on an individual game basis and requests must be received in the Sports Information Office no later than three days before the game.

No women or children will be allowed in the press area, except for women press representatives.

A play-by-play account will be furnished at the end of each half. Complete half-time, final, and individual statistics and other materials will be offered both during and after the game.

The press box is located on the west side of the stadium. The main press area is on the first (or lower) level with radio and scouts in the second level.
